RIBICOFF GETS CABINET NOD

—STUDENT, REPORTER, DOG MAULED—

Weaker Sex Shows Muscle Once Again

New Orleans (AP)—Shoving and kicking women—angered by a crack in their pupil boycott at integrated schools—vented their spleen Thursday on a university student, a reporter and a minister's dog.

Six white children attended classes at William Frantz school, center of this week's disturbances, in contrast to the two who attended Wednesday.

Screaming insults, picketing housewives manhandled Sydney Goldfinch, a Tulane University student, saying he led recent downtown sit-in demonstrations. They shoved and kicked him.

Police rescued him.

The women taunted him as police took the youth—son of a Baptist minister—to a squad car.

"I hope you have a bunch of mulatto grandchildren," yelled one woman.

Shortly before school closed, police cleared a 4-block strip, apparently to permit safe passage for parents of white pupils inside William Frantz.

REV. FOREMAN AND DAUGHTER, 5

Sign For Tot

A woman brought her two-year-old son into the area. The tyke wore a sign over his shoulders. In front it read: "My Daddy Said No." On the back, it read: "Nigger, You'll Never Sit With Me."

A little girl also wore a crude sign with the same slogan.

Police ordered reporter Jerry Hopkins of the New Orleans Times-Picayune out of the area. Women demonstrators accused Hopkins of hitting them with a campstool.

A bit later, police forced from the neighborhood two newsmen on leave from Time and Life magazines. The two—Ken Smelson and Greg Shuker—"were causing trouble," police said.

The two men had asked a man "why do you oppose interracial marriage?"

Several newsmen were kicked or shoved.

No one was arrested.

Yelling women thronged around the home of the Rev. Lloyd Foreman, a Methodist minister whose daughter attends William Frantz kindergarten. Police kept them off the minister's lawn.

The minister's dog, a black and white animal, showed up.

'Integrated Dog'

"Look," yelled one woman, "he's even got an integrated dog."

Some demonstrators threw stones at the dog.

The Rev. Mr. Foreman provoked the ire of the demonstrators early in the day when—with rapid timing—he escorted his daughter and two unidentified white youngsters into William Frantz.

The Rev. Mr. Foreman was a pastor at Trinity Methodist Church at Grand Island from June 1957 to June 1958.

Mrs. James Gabrielle, whose daughter also has been attending the integrated school all week, evaded the catcalls and shoving that forced police protection Wednesday by showing up early with her child.

In contrast to the tense situation at William Frantz, small groups of pickets stood quietly at the city's other integrated elementary school, McDonogh No. 19. No white child has shown up there for classes all week.

While the women bolstered by a scattering of husky husbands tried to keep intact their boycott, the Louisiana legislature in Baton Rouge rapidly voted out of committee a bill that would set up a statewide private school system.

Important Welfare Post Just A Starter

Gov. Williams To Be Assistant Secretary Of State In Charge Of African Affairs

By Fred S. Hoffman

Washington (AP) — John F. Kennedy started forming his Cabinet Thursday by tapping Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, an old friend and early Kennedy-for-President rooter, as his secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

In this job, the 50-year-old Ribicoff would play a key role in some of the programs Kennedy has labeled for priority consideration by the new Congress — aid to education, medical care for the aged and the like.

Standing at Kennedy's side as the announcement was made, Ribicoff declared his philosophy in this general field "is on all fours with the philosophy of President-elect Kennedy."

ABRAHAM RIBICOFF

Williams Chosen

Several hours earlier, Kennedy made known that he had selected another pre-convention supporter — outgoing-Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan — to be assistant secretary of state in charge of African affairs.

Williams

Normally, an assistant secretary isn't considered overly important. But Kennedy stressed he regards the African affairs post as "second to none in the new administration" because the Dark Continent has become a major cold war battleground.

Williams, 49, who ends an unprecedented sixth term as Michigan's governor on Jan. 1, said later he plans a brief tour of Africa between New Year's Day and Kennedy's inauguration on Jan. 20.

In the wake of these appointments, there was a hint the incoming president may announce Friday the man he has picked to head up the Budget Bureau.

His first caller Friday was listed as Prof. David Bell of Harvard, a 41-year-old specialist on public administration. The Boston Globe reported earlier that Bell appeared in line for the job of budget director.

All in all, there was much activity Thursday at Kennedy's headquarters, his home on a normally sedate street in the historic Georgetown section of the capital.

Kennedy's one obvious disappointment of the day came when he apparently failed to persuade 65-year-old Robert A. Lovett, a New York investment banker, to accept a place in the Kennedy administration.

Lovett Has "Retired"

After lunching with Lovett, the president-elect told newsmen "it is a great regret to me that he has retired" from further government service.

Lovett, a Republican, was secretary of defense and undersecretary of state in the Democratic administration of President Harry S. Truman. He had been mentioned in speculation as a possible appointee either as secretary of defense or secretary of state under Kennedy.

The darkly handsome Ribicoff, son of Russion immigrants, was the first Jew elected governor of Connecticut. He now is at the midpoint in his second 4-year term, and said he will resign after the Senate confirms his Cabinet appointment.

As governor, Ribicoff draws $15,000 a year. As secretary of Health, Education and Welfare he would be paid $25,000 a year.

The H-E-W department has 62,000 employes and each year distributes 3¾ billion dollars to the American people.

Social Security Head

Under its jurisdiction fall the Social Security administration, the Office of Education, the Public Health Service and similar agencies.

Kennedy noted that in Connecticut, Ribicoff supervises a state budget which earmarks 74% of its funds to health and welfare purposes.

When newsmen asked whether Ribicoff's statement about being on all fours with Kennedy's philosophy included a medical care for the aged plan financed through Social Security, Ribicoff deferred to Kennedy.

"I think Gov. Ribicoff and I are in agreement on it," Kennedy said.

The president-elect warmly described his fellow New Englander as "an old friend and distinguished public servant."

Served In House

In addition to being governor of Connecticut, Ribicoff served two terms in the House of Representatives, did duty in the State Legislature and was a city judge in Hartford.

He is something of a self-made man. As a youth he sold newspapers, clerked in a store, worked as an errand boy and did road construction work.

By contrast, Williams is a millionaire, with the family fortune growing out of a soap and toiletries business. Hence the nickname "Soapy."

Williams was briefed for about an hour by the man he would succeed, Assistant Secretary Joseph C. Satterthwaite, a career diplomat who has seen extensive service.

Concordia Wins Directed Verdict

$750,000 Shooting Case To Jury; Judge Nixes Case Against College

By Virgil Falloon

Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt directed a verdict Thursday in favor of Concordia Teachers College and its named defendant officials and trustees in the $750,000 personal injury suit brought by Donald T. Miller.

The 23-year-old former student from Mission, Kan., was the victim of a Jan. 23, 1958, shooting in the college dormitory by a fellow student, James A. Hahn of Chicago.

Miller's case presented in a 4-day trial went to the jury late Thursday afternoon as against defendant Hahn.

The jury deliberated into Thursday evening without reaching a decision, then went home. Jurors were scheduled to return Friday morning to continue their efforts to reach a decision.

The directed verdict, in effect, dismissed Miller's complaint against Concordia College at Seward and its defendant officials on a finding of court.

Miller had contended his permanent injuries resulted from the shot fired by Hahn and that the college and its officials had permitted circumstances to exist that led to the shooting.

Motion By College

At the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence, Flavel Wright, attorney for the defendant college and officials, moved for the directed verdict on grounds that the college, an arm of the Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod), was protected by the legal doctrine of charitable immunity under Nebraska laws and that there was no evidence of active negligence on the part of the defendant officials to cause injury to Miller.

In contrast, Robert Guenzel and Don Davis, attorneys for Miller, contended that the dormitory was not an integral part of the college and the immunity doctrine did not apply as to the operation of the dormitory.

In directing a verdict based on charitable immunity, Judge Van Pelt said he could find no evidence of active negligence on the part of the trustees.

'No Approval'

However, the jurist noted, no stamp of approval could be placed on what had taken place regarding the presence of stolen guns, the shooting of blanks by Hahn, and what the dormitory councilor should have known was going on.

"The passive negligence in (President Paul) Zimmerman and (Dormitory Counselor Dale) Hansen created a condition, but was not the proximate cause of Miller's injuries," he concluded.

"Therefore, I must direct a verdict, as painful as it is, against the plaintiff and in favor of all defendants except Hahn."

'Accidental'

In final arguments to the jury, Hahn's attorney, Dick Spangler, pointed out that shooting may have been entirely accidental because of Hahn's drunken condition that night.

"It may have involved negligence, he contended, but it "certainly was not one of intention."

In the plaintiff's final arguments, the jury was asked to consider Miller's paraplegic condition, loss of the use of his legs and other lower body functions, and the future life that the youth can expect in a wheel chair over a life expectancy of another 53 years.

Plaintiff's case against Hahn went to the jury for a verdict at approximatley 4:45 p.m. after the charge of the jury made by Judge Van Pelt.

Receiver Asked For Lincoln Clinic Assets

By Del Harding

Four Lincoln physicians asked the Lancaster District Court Thursday to appoint a receiver to take over the assets of a 19-doctor partnership at the Lincoln Clinic at 3145 O.

The 4 — Drs. Maurice D. Frazer, Hiram D. Hilton, Richard N. Todd and John G. Wiedman — allege that the partnership was dissolved Aug. 9 when one of the 19 doctors, Dr. George E. Larson, withdrew. They allege that since that time the remaining doctors have been unable to agree on a new partnership agreement and that they have fallen into a "state of severe discord and dissension."

They allege this "grave discord" created a condition "in which no fair division of the assets can be made by the partners themselves." They ask the court to appoint a receiver to take over the assets and then to distribute the assets among the remaining partners.

Named as defendants in the suit are Drs. Harold R. Horn, W. J. Jarvis, Kenneth T. McGinnis, Bowen E. Taylor, Kenneth J. Fijan, Herbert G. Ahrens, John C. Clyne, J. William Hervert, G. W. LeWorthy, Donald S. Ritter, John W. Bengston, Maynard A. Wood, Robert A. Youngman and E. Burkett Reed.

The petition states that 3 of the above — Drs. Reed, Youngman and Wood — were named as defendants because they were partners in the original 19-doctor partnership.

Ordered To Vacate

The 4 plaintiffs allege the other 11 defendants have "threatened to take over for their own use . . . the possession of the respective interests in the assets of the said dissolved partnership owned by those former partners, including plaintiffs herein, who have not agreed to enter into a partnership agreement following said dissolution, and further have ordered at least 7 of the former partners, including these plaintiffs, to vacate the premises occupied by the dissolved partnership . . ."

The plaintiffs asked the court to issue a temporary restraining order enjoining the defendants from distributing any moneys of the partnership among themselves.

District Judge Harry A. Spencer granted their request and signed a temporary restraining order. But he set a hearing for 11 a.m. Monday on the plaintiffs' request for a temporary injunction which would hold up any distribution of the partnerships' assets until trial of the case.

The partnership's assets, according to the suit, were "in excess of $500,000" at the time of the withdrawal of Dr. Larson, who left the city to practice medicine in Ohio.

E. N. Van Horne To Quit Post As State Banking Director

State Banking Director Edwin N. Van Horne has submitted his resignation to Governor-elect Frank Morrison effective Jan. 5, 1961.

Van Horne

Van Horne, an appointee of the late Gov. Ralph Brooks, has held the office since March 1, 1959.

At the time of his appointment, he had agreed to serve one term.

Van Horne is the second major state department head to announce his intention to resign at the conclusion of the present term in January.

Insurance Director William Grubbs earlier revealed his decision in a conversation with Morrison.

Van Horne told The Star he is resigning "to re-enter private business and give more attention to my personal affairs, including farms and banking interests."

In his letter of resignation to Morrison, he offered his co-operation in any possible discussion of departmental policies or a successor.

The 70-year-old Omahan was formerly president 1929-37 of the Continental National Bank of Lincoln.

He was president of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha from 1942 until 1955, and a former executive vice president of the American National Bank and Trust Co., of Chicago.

Van Horne is presently a trustee of the Cooper Foundation of Lincoln, director of the Union Stock Yards Co. of Omaha, and a director of the American General Life Insurance Co. of Houston, Tex.

During his past residency in Lincoln, he was president of the Lincoln Clearing House Association, president of the Nebraska Bankers Assn., and active in other civic affairs.

Van Horne served as state banking examiner from 1913 to 1916.

A native of Pawnee City, he is presently a director of The Farmers State Bank in which the Van Horne family has been actively engaged since 1882.

During more than 50 years in the field of banking, Van Horne has held 30 positions in other banking and commercial enterprises.

Rocky Says Nixon 'Not' GOP Chief

Says He's Just Titular Head

Washington (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said Thursday he does not regard Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the actual leader of the Republican Party. He conceded only that Nixon is the titular leader.

Rockefeller made the statements at the White House after a long talk with President Eisenhower who said earlier that Nixon would be regarded as head of the party for the next 4 years.

Reminded of Eisenhower's stamp of approval for Nixon as the leader, Rockefeller said: "I wouldn't want to debate with the President on that subject."

Collective leadership is what the party needs, declared Rockefeller, who toyed for a while with the idea of going after the presidential nomination that Nixon won this year.

Expanding, he said that if the Republican Party is going to grow stronger, then it will need the work of party leaders in all the states. And he said he intends to concentrate on New York.

To Run Again

Rockefeller announced he will run for re-election as governor in 1962 but has not said whether he will try again for the presidential nomination in 1964.

The governor was asked whether he thought that Nixon, because of his close race for the presidency this year against Democrat John F. Kennedy, would be the natural GOP nominee in 1964.

Rockefeller replied only: "4 years seems a long way off."

He did say he would have breakfast with Nixon Friday, and that he intended to cooperate with the vice president in every way to strengthen their party.

Earlier Rockefeller told a news conference at Albany that a party without a president in office is without an actual head except perhaps for the chairman of its national committee.

That statement, which Rockefeller repeated Thursday, was followed by Eisenhower's statement to a Republican dinner at the White House that Nixon would be recognized as the party's chief and that he would have the support of Eisenhower and that of everybody else present.

Boy, 3, Dies After Falling Down Stairs

Papillion (AP)—A 3-year-old Sarpy County boy died in Omaha's Children's Hospital Thursday, apparently of injuries suffered in a fall down a flight of stairs.

He was Ronnie Tills. His two-year-old brother Robin was hospitalized in fair condition with bruises suffered at the same time.

Sarpy County Sheriff Ernest Arp said the boys were in the care of a babysitter, Hubert Harper, 15, who told officers the boys fell down the stairs. The children were the sons of Mrs. Kathleen Tills.

Douglas County Coroner George Sullivan said the Tills children were staying with a LaPlatte family.

Harper told officials that he was asleep when he heard a noise. He said he awoke to see Ronnie falling down the stairs but that he succeeded in grabbing Robin and preventing him from falling.

Ronnie died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Red Summit Meet Ends; No Boasts

Differences Probably Are Unresolved

By Preston Grover

Moscow (AP) — A communist world leaders' summit conference ended Thursday with a communique which indicated little progress in composing major differences on global policy.

The communique devoted only a few terse lines to what went on in secret behind the Kremlin walls for 3 weeks. Technically, at least, the note it struck was one of harmony.

The Red summit, attended by leaders of communist parties from 81 countries, is believed to have been punctuated by word battles between Red China and the Soviet leadership on how best to promote communism in the world and upset non-communist governments.

Until the final communique Thursday, there was no mention of this conference in the communist press.

As Expected

There had been no expectation among Western leaders that any final statement would give a hint of differences on global policies or ideology. But there have been many indications in the press of Red China and the Soviet bloc of a sharp divergence of opinion between the Kremlin and Peiping.

The final communique was devoted mostly to listing the Communist Parties represented, country by country. The only statement of what went on came in the final two paragraphs. These said:

"The participants in the conference exchanged experiences and acquainted themselves with the views and positions of each other, discussed the current questions of contemporary international developments and the communist movement, in the interests of the mutual struggle for common aims of peace, democracy, national independence and socialism, and unanimously adopted a statement of the communist and workers' parties and also an appeal to the peoples of the whole world.

'The discussion of all questions took place in an atmosphere of fraternal friendship resting on the foundation of the immutable principles of Marxism-Leninism and proletarian internationalism."

(Proletarian internationalism generally means, by Soviet interpretation, Moscow leadership in all matters concerning the course of the communist world movement.)

Captain's Wife Removed From Stricken Ship

Traverse City, Mich. (AP) — The captain's wife was taken off a storm-battered and rock-stranded Liberian freighter. The skipper and his 12-man crew were left aboard.

Mrs. Anastisia Trivizas of Corfu, Greece, was removed from the Francisco Morazan by a boarding party from the coast guard cutter Mackinaw. She is two months pregnant. She was brought by helicopter to a hospital here.

Her husband's 246-foot ship has been aground on rocks off South Manitou Island in upper Lake Michigan since being driven there by a fierce, snow-laden storm last Tuesday night. Capt. Eduardo Trivizas has a crew of Greek and Spanish seamen.

The Traverse City coast guard station, meanwhile, flew a marine engineer and an indemnity investigator to the water-logged ship.

Nasser Grabs All Belgian Properties

Cairo (AP) — President Nasser seized all Belgian commercial properties in Egypt, including the Belgian Bank and the Cairo Street Railways.

The seizure was interpreted here as retaliation for the Congo's diplomatic break with the United Arab Republic (Egypt-Syria).

Nasser regards the ruling Congo leadership as pro-Belgian.

Some Belgian property was nationalized, as the Suez Canal was by a Nasser decree in 1956. Some was sequestered—held in suspense pending disposal—as properties of Britain and French firms were after the 1956 British-French invasion of Egypt.

The move came soon after Congo President Joseph Kasavubu severed relations with the U.A.R.

Slaps Orders

Nasser slapped nationalization orders on the bank and on the Belgian-owned Cairo electric railways and the suburban Heliopolis Oasis Co.

Belgian companies under sequestration are the Egyptian Electricity Company and the Cairo Tramways Utility.

The United Arab Republic maintains that fugitive Patrice Lumumba is head of the Congo's legal government and it has accused Kasavubu of being a Belgian agent.

A Belgian embassy spokesman here said the move surprised his people completely and that they first learned of it through newsmen who asked for comment.

Under the U.A.R. nationalization law, compensation to Heliopolis shareholders will be given in the form of state bonds repayable over 12 year with 5% interest.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, leaves Rome's Anglican All Saints Church.

British Primate Urges Church 'Cold War' End

. . . Historic Meeting With Pope John Friday

By Frank Brutto

Rome (AP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury, here for an historic meeting with Pope John XXIII, pleaded Thursday night for a speedy end to the "cold war" between Christian churches.

The archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, prayed that "rival jurisdictions" may co-exist in peace, urged that Christian churches cease being competive, and that, without treading on each others' toes on doctrinal matters, they become co-operative.

Third of a Series

The 73-year-old Briton, primate of the Church of England, spoke at Rome's Anglican All Saints Church. His sermon, delivered at an Evensong service, was the third of a series he has made during a journey that has taken him to meetings with patriarchs of the Orthodox church in Jerusalem and Istanbul. In those two cities he also made pleas for greater Christian unity throughout the world.

Friday, the archbishop pays what his Lambeth Palace headquarters and the Vatican have described as a courtesy visit to Pope John. When asked what they would discuss, Dr. Fisher said earlier Thursday: "We shall talk about nothing, and about everything. We will talk in terms of Christian friendship and courtesy."

First In Centuries

It will be the first meeting of a pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church and a primate of the Church of England since King Henry VIII broke away from papal authority in the 16th century. The meeting has caused some criticism, mostly in England, but in general has been favorably received.

In his sermon Thursday night, Dr. Fisher distinguished between union with the church of Rome and a unity of Christian spirit throughout the world.

"Rival jurisdictions can coexist in peace, once they cease to be in competition and become co-operative, cease to be set as contraries the one to the other, and so become creative," he said.

"That is the truth by which in Christ His whole church may be set free. We no longer need forbid one another. For if we are not against one another any longer, we are for one another, and so can be gloriously free to be altogether for Christ and for the true unity of his church. I say deliberately 'unity,' not union. . ."

Army Wants 6,000 Draftees In January

Washington (UPI) — The Defense Department Thursday issued a call for 6,000 draftees for the Army in January.

The quota was 2,000 less than the 8,000-man December figure. The January call was the lowest since last July —when the figure was the same. Monthly draft calls since mid-year have ranged from 7,000 to 9,000.

According to Nebraska Selective Service Headquarters, the state quota for January, 1961, is 45 as compared to the December quota of 59 men.

Cuba Is Hit By Rocket Fragments

. . . U.S. Space Failure

Washington (AP) —The Air Force said Thursday night that "it is likely" that fragments of metal which fell on Cuba were from the unsuccessful transit satellite fired from Florida Wednesday — as Cuba claims.

Havana (AP) — A malfunctioning U.S. rocket that was to orbit two space satellites had to be destroyed in flight Wednesday and Cuban officials said Thursday parts of it showered debris on an eastern Cuba hillside. Cuban newspapers and broadcasters charged it was "imperialist provocation" and "aggression."

The Cuban news agency said the debris fell 10 miles from Holguin, Cuba's third largest city, causing "loud explosions and great alarm." A spokesman at military headquarters in Holguin said some of the fragments weighed as much as 40 pounds but caused no damage or casualties.

Range officers at Cape Canaveral, Fla., purposely destroyed the airborne rocket when something went wrong.

News Photograph Award Won By Iowa U Student

Iowa City, Iowa (UPI) — Bruno Torres, Avoca, Iowa, a senior in the University of Iowa school of journalism, was named the first winner of a "news picture internship" sponsored by United Press International.

Torres will receive $500 while serving his internship with the UPI. Torres previously had worked as a "stringer" for the news picture agency, and during the summer was employed as a staff photographer for the Des Moines Register.

The UPI internship program was designed to make the student "more a part of the worldwide UPI organization and, thus, more aware of the workings of a major press association."

Earl R. Wege, 35, former local superintendent at Walthill, will succeed Cooper at Ponca and A. L. Roemnich, 32, Scribner lineman, will succeed Wege at Walthill.

PX Liquor Sales Stopped To Stem Drain On Dollars

Washington (UPI) — The Defense Department halted sales of Scotch, Canadian and other foreign liquors in U.S. military exchanges overseas to help stem the flow of dollars to other countries.

But it indicated it might continue to permit the sale of foreign alcoholic beverages in officers' and non-commissioned officers' clubs at home and abroad so long as the liquor is drunk in on the premises.

The action was part of the administration's sweeping ban on sale of foreign goods in post exchanges and similar commercial establishments of the military. Also affected are such items as Swiss watches, British sweaters and oriental jewelry.

The order will hit liquor-consuming servicemen in the pocketbook. American military stores overseas long have sold foreign beverage at low, tax-free prices.

But as soon as present stocks are exhausted, such potables as Scotch and Canadian whisky, French cognac, British gin, and Danish and Dutch beer will disappear from the shelves of military stores.

They are a casualty of President Eisenhower's program for slowing down the flow of dollars to foreign countries. Under the program, the President has ordered the number of servicemen's dependents overseas cut from 484,000 to 200,000.

Clash With Police

Athens, Greece (UPI) — Some 10,000 striking construction workers clashed with police in a street fight and set fire to several autos.

McGovern Said Kennedy's Pick For Ag Secretary

Washington (UPI) — A prominent Democratic congressman predicted that President-elect John F. Kennedy would name Rep. George F. McGovern of South Dakota to be secretary of agriculture.

He also said it was "just about definite" that Rep. Stewart L. Udall, D-Ariz., would be chosen secretary of interior. Another source, who has been consulted by Kennedy on appointments, also said Udall had the inside track.

The congressman, who declined to be quoted by name, said he understood Kennedy definitely had settled on McGovern for agriculture. He said he was informed that Udall "was going to get" the interior post.

The same congressman had predicted in advance of the announcement that Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut would be named secretary of health, education and welfare.

Both Udall and McGovern have conferred with Kennedy about possible roles in the new administration.

SAC Tanker Crews Learn 'Cave Man' Living Along Platte

In spite of all man's advancements in science and modern living, some fellows still insist on doing things "cave man style."

Hidden from the public's eye by dense woods in an area along the Platte River approximately 25 miles east of Lincoln, a Strategic Air Command KC-97 tanker crew from the Lincoln Air Force Base cooks its food, often consisting of a rabbit or a squirrel, over an open fire of sticks. But these men know exactly what they're doing and why.

These airmen are participating in a survival training course, in which they learn methods of self-preservation under arctic, jungle, and desert conditions. In their profession, they never know when this knowledge may make the difference between life and death. For them, this marshy, sandy loam section of the Nebraska National Guard Camp is a temporary home.

Sudden Change

The survival course, conducted by LAFB training instructors TSgt. James W. Hart, TSgt. Lynn A. Burk, and SSgt. Howard T. Favour, begins with a classroom session at the Air Base, and ends 3½ days later on the banks of the Platte River.

One of the major items of instruction during the course is the versatility of the parachute as a survival tool. The chute can be used to make 5 kinds of tents, to wrap a roast for cooking in an underground rock oven, or to make snares and traps for fish and wildlife.

Another important lesson is given in edible plants, venomous snakes, and methods of trapping large and small game.

"Someday your life may depend on whether or not you can tell the difference between sassafras root and poison oak," Sgt. Hart told the men.

The crew learns that a cigarette lighter, even without fluid, can mean the difference between life and death. The flint and cotton packing can start a life-preserving fire.

Knowledge of little things counts big in survival, according to the instructors. The trigger notch in a rabbit box trap must be mighty smooth to catch "Mr. Cottontail," and a fire too close to a piece of "jerky" meat will spoil it for consumption. Even the fact that the pulp of "Spanish Bayonet" cactus is edible could be a lifesaver under certain conditions.

Small game such as rabbits, squirrels and coons are plentiful in the training area, adding interest to the course, but snakes of various species are also residents of the area and must be given due consideration . . . and often a wide berth as well.

One of the primary purposes of this course, the instructors explained, is to prepare a man psychologically to be self-sufficient in the event of a crash in a desolate region.

"Our civilization makes us dependent on one another," Sergeant Burk stated. "A man who parachutes down in an uncivilized area is on his own. He'd better pay attention to little things if he wants to get out alive."

AIRMEN LEARNING HOW TO 'LIVE OFF THE LAND'

Knowing how to "live off the fat of the land" is a prime prerequisite in survival after a plane crash or similar emergency. Lincoln Air Force Base airmen taking a survival course along the Platte River, 25 miles east of Lincoln are shown above (in the left photo) curing "jerky meat" on a crude frame and (in the right photo) building a small game snare to catch their next meal.

Asians, Africans Demand 'Gentlemen's Agreement'

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Asian and African members of the United Nations demanded a new "gentlemen's agreement" to assure them representation in major U.N. councils.

Under a 1945 big power accord reached in London elections in the General Assembly for the 11-nation Security Council have been governed by geographic representation. This was called a "gentlemen's agreement." A similar arrangement governs elections to the 18-nation economic and social council.

Under the proposed new arrangement, new Asian and African nations would get one of the two Security Council seats now held by European countries and one of the two held by Latin American countries.

Asian-African demands for representation on the councils have caused a postponement of council elections at this Assembly session.

L. N. Palar of Indonesia, one of the spokesmen for the group augmented by the newly admitted African nations, voiced the demand for an end to the agreements in explicit terms before the Assembly's special political committee.

Supporting a 13-nation African-Asian move for immediate redistribution of existing nonpermanent seats on the councils, Palar told the committee:

"The London and the Ecosoc gentlemen's agreement binds gentlemen who concluded the agreement. It doesn't bind us because we didn't participate in it. We now are ready to participate in a new gentlemen's agreement and in prior arrangements for elections.

"Why try to persuade us, even compel us, to accept your gentlemen's agreement and relegate us to second class members?"

Grief-Stricken Parents Attend Boy's Funeral

Portland, Ore. (UPI)—The grief stricken parents of a missing coed attended her slain boy friend's funeral and offered a $1,000 reward for information helpful in locating their daughter, dead or alive.

Pretty Beverly Ann Allan, 19, a sophomore at Washington State University in Pullman, is believed to have been kidnaped from a lover's lane last weekend and possibly killed by the slayer or slayers of Larry Ralph Peyton, also 19, Portland.

The reward was offered by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allan of Port Townsend, Wash. It also stands for information leading to the arrest and conviction of her abductor or abductors, attorneys for the couple said.

Ford Aired Financial Deal With Treasury Boss Earlier

Detroit (AP)— Henry Ford II said he was discussed with Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson a proposal by Ford Motor Co. to gain additional control of its English subsidiary.

On Nov. 14 Ford announced it would offer $20.50 a share for the outstanding 46.4% of the stock of Ford Motor Co., Limited. This would amount to about $300 million if accepted by all British stockholders.

It was disclosed that Anderson appealed personally to Henry Ford to consider America's gold-dollar drain before carrying out the proposal.

The treasury secretary was said to be deeply concerned about the impact on the U.S. balance of payments deficits which is expected to run about $4 billion for 1960.

In a statement Ford said he had discussed the matter with Anderson in mid-November, apparently immediately before or after the proposal was publicized.

"Suggestions made by Mr. Anderson at that time have been given every consideration," Ford said. "But at no time, then or since, has it been requested by Mr. Anderson, or by any other government official, that we withdraw our offer."

Ford did not say what suggestions had been made. Neither did he say whether they had been accepted or rejected.

Sources in Washington suggested Anderson had asked Ford to find some way to buy the stock that would have the least possible impact on the payments deficit.

Rabbi Rosenblum Meeting Speaker

"The United Synagogue, a Beacon of Strength," will be the subject of an address by Rabbi Abraham Rosenblum Friday, as Congregation Tifereth Israel Synagogue joins in a nationwide observance of "United Synagogue Sabbath", according to President Hyman Polsky.

Following the Rabbi's address at 8 p.m. will be a symposium composed of Henry Misle, Eli Evnen, Mrs. Betty Zelen, Faye Modenstein and Eugene Schaffer.

The synagogue is affiliated with the United Synagogues of America, an association of more than 700 Conservative congregations in the U.S. and Canada.

Wife Guarded Invalid In A Gutted Home

Detroit (AP) — An 85-year-old invalid lived for two years in a burned out home guarded by his wife.

Rudolph F. Karschnick died while being taken to a hospital. He had been unconscious for 3 days. He was on a bed covered with quilts and wore a stocking cap for warmth.

His wife, Lillian, 81, refused to leave him even when she received a telgram from a Detroit hospital asking her to make burial arrangements for her only brother.

"My duty is with the living," Mrs. Karschnick said.

The couple lived in 3 rooms of the 12-room house that cost $30,000 when they bought it 30 years ago. The rooms in which they lived were barely warmed by a portable electric heater and a gas stove.

They used to rent the upper floor of the house as a flat to help meet expenses, but fire destroyed that part of the house and they had no money to reapir it. The burned section is open to the snow and frigid winds moan among the skeleton beams and charred roof.

Mrs. Karschnick said her husband had been an invalid for two years. She said she had no children and no close relatives. She said they lived on Social Security payments.

Inter-Service Clash

Brasilia, Brazil (UPI) — Heads of the armed forces clashed over who should man the planes of the Brazilian aircraft carrier Minas Gerais bought from Britain and due here this month. Both the navy and the air force claim the right to man the carrier planes. The air force bases its claim on a law prohibiting navy men from flying aircraft.

Self-Help Success

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Farmers and residents of several small towns in eastern Gage County are walking around with their chests out these days. They are smiling and happy with the pride that is in them for the benefits they can see coming as a result of six years of work. They are the people who live in the 39,000-acre Mud Creek drainage area. Through a co-operative effort, they have embarked upon a program to control the water and conserve the soil that lie within the Mud Creek watershed.

No longer will they have to watch helplessly as heavy rains wash away the valuable topsoil of their farms and floods tear out their crops and damage their buildings and equipment. These people are now embarked upon what has been designated as the first special purpose watershed district in the state. The program is much the same as that being planned for this area by the Salt-Wahoo Watershed Association and is going on in the Papio Creek and Gering Valley regions. All these programs are moving forward under similar state legislation and with federal government and state assistance.

First Of Its Kind

But before the program is condemned with that much abused term, "pork barrel," it might be well to have a little better understanding of it. Less than three years ago, there were no special purpose watershed districts organized in the state and today there are 20. These have not come about as a result of a handout from Uncle Sam. They have come about because local people realized that their valuable resources were being wasted and that something had to be done about it.

In the Mud Creek program, $950,000 will be provided by the federal government for the flood control aspects of the program. Another $1,150,000 must be put into the program for conservation practices and those flood control details for which no federal aid is available. Some of this $1,150,000 will also come from various federal programs but local responsibilities are still heavy.

The Mud Creek district has authority to levy up to 2 mills tax and is now right at that figure. The entire initiative and planning for the program of flood control and conservation must come at the local level. Easements and rights-of-way must be provided, conservation practices must be inaugurated and assurance must be provided of future maintenance of flood control structures. The district is formed through an election which means that there must be a willingness at the local level to do the job.

This is saying a lot more than it might seem at first glance. Not every farmer has realized the first time around that it would pay him to dedicate some of his land to permanent flooding in order to avoid periodic flooding of his entire farm. Not every farmer has realized at first glance that contouring, grassed waterways and other conservation practices were worth their time and effort. Certainly, town residents do not always realize that co-operation with their rural neighbors holds big potential dividends.

These things demand not only a farsighted attitude but a willingness to invest in the soundness of that attitude. The people who have worked to bring the Mud Creek program to reality will tell you that there is assistance to be had in ample supply at the state and federal level. They will tell you that the job they have embarked upon could not have been done alone.

But they will also tell you that it was the local leadership, pioneering spirit and willingness to sacrifice that permitted progress to be made. Without the local effort, the other parts of the program fall flat on their face. The same thing has been true of the Salt-Wahoo program in this area and the other conservancy and watershed districts in the state.

The message that comes from this Gage County program is one which should be heard by many people in many areas. It tells us that there are few things which are impossible if there is the spirit to get the job done. Certainly, such a spirit is needed in the watershed and conservation areas of the state. Nebraska is far behind neighboring states in these programs with only 508,000 acres now under construction authorization out of a total of 25,000,000 acres on which work is needed. Neighboring states are roughly twice as far along as we are and Nebraska was the original leader in the watershed approach to flood control and conservation. We have the legislation needed and there is plenty of assistance available. All we need is the local dedication.

Spirit To Carry Through

Much the same thing is true of many of the problems which face the state and the individual communities which make up Nebraska. In every area of need that can be cited, the first thing called for is a determination to work out a solution. The Mud Creek program should serve as a fine example in many of today's areas of concern.

"Now, Has Everyone Got One Of These Little Figures And A Set Of Pins?"

Historic And Difficult

These are days that many of the people of New Orleans would rather had never come but in the light of changing times, their arrival was inevitable. Now, a U.S. appeals court of three judges has destroyed the legal stone wall that the Louisiana Legislature had set up to fight off integration of schools in the resort city of New Orleans.

It is not a pretty picture that presents itself in this historic city in many ways but the entire episode is one of pride for this nation, not disgust. One can look at the battle against integration and see in it the intolerance and bigotry that are a part of the makeup of some people but this is but a temporary detail in the greater story that is being unfolded in this southern state.

It is not any lack of sympathy for the South which dictates the pride that can be found in the present integration crisis. In fact, the position of those who are fighting integration can be easily understood in view of the cultural and social tradition they have lived with all their lives. But the thing which stands out in all the conflict of this battle is that the principle of human equality and justice by which we live is more than just a lofty statement.

However difficult it is to apply in some specific cases, it is still a principle that is not being compromised. As good as the doctrine of separate but equal facilities might be, it is one which compromises the principle of equality and is, therefore, as doomed as certainly as night follows day. The significance of today's events in New Orleans is not in the strife that has developed, but rather, in the fact that progress in social equality is being made even in the face of great odds.

Bensonism Rides On

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson may go down in history as the period's political paradox.

One cannot recall another agriculture secretary who was more sharply criticized by so many farmers nor whose scalp was wanted by so many bigwigs of his own party. Yet after eight years he is walking out of office with the memory of uniform voting support for his party in the November elections. On the face of it he has no reason to feel that he or his policies were rejected. And to this his critics have no countering answer. They can only look at the American farmer and scratch their heads in perplexity.

Recently at the Saddle and Sirloin Club at Chicago while he was attending the 59th International Livestock Show he had the satisfaction of watching his portrait hung among those of the agriculturally esteemed, and with some feeling of satisfaction he said he was leaving public life for good. He is going back to his duties as one of the 12 apostles of the Mormon church. He was named one in 1943 and his appointment runs through his lifetime.

While Mr. Benson is through with politics, the country will live under his shadow for a long time to come. In his efforts to solve the farm problem by lowering price supports he ran up the largest federal budgets in history. The country will remember him for the price tags whose figures cannot be altered much for a long while. He also contrived to greatly expand the nation's grain storage capacity and thus make the support of a continuing surplus a virtual necessity. His soil bank and on-the-farm grain storage programs have provided back door farm revenues which by now have become a part of the farmer's basic income and are hardly subject to swift elimination. None of this brought a farm program remedy, but it perpetuated Bensonism, whatever that may be, and it says that while he may turn his back on politics the country will not be able to turn its back on him.

An Administration Failure

This late in the day it is not expected that the Eisenhower administration will be able to do much more to stop the outflow of American gold.

Hardly a month remains before the Kennedy administration takes over and the overseas countries are apt to wait out the situation for several reasons. Two of them are almost compelling. One is that those countries realize the Democratic administration will not follow the line of thinking of its Republican predecessor. They will want to know which way the wind blows. The other is that it is preferable from the long range view to make engagements with an administration bound to be in power for at least four years than to do business with an administration whose remaining life cannot extend more than a few weeks.

The present administration may as well close the book on the matter as a piece of failing but unfinished business. The gold outflow has been going on now for several years. The administration did not treat with it decisively and only acted sternly with it after the November elections. Then it acted not in the best way to stop the trouble, but did only what it could do without veering from its basic policy. While it ordered home the families of overseas service men, it did nothing to prevent further investment of American industry overseas. It is significant that the Ford Motor Company's decision to pour another $300 million into England to get full possession of a plant in which it now holds major control, will offset any savings the administration can make by breaking up the families of overseas service men. It may be expedient for Ford and many other large industries to make gains through lower European overheads to pump goods into the world markets and into our own, but it is no way to hold our house together. And the administration's thesis that higher interest rates would take care of the matter was a bad and unrealistic dream.

Development To Enrich Indians

It looks as if another Palm Springs or Las Vegas is in the making in the heart of the Mojave desert. The Indian bureau is about to announce bids for leasing three plots of land totaling 13,000 acres owned by the Mojave Indians, for the purpose of developing a winter resort on the Colorado river near Needles, Calif.

The Fort Mojave Development Corporation of Palm Springs is one of the developers interested in transforming this desert hot spot into a recreation center which someday might give Palm Springs and Las Vegas a run for their money.

For about a year the question of leasing this tract of land, part of it in Nevada, part in Arizona, and part in California, but all owned by the Mojave Indians, has been under debate. But now, John Dibbren, Indian agent for the Mojave tribe, informs this writer that the bids are about to be let.

This will be a boon to the little city of Needles, located in the middle of the Mojave desert and known to travelers on the Santa Fe railroad as "the hottest city in the USA." Those who step off Santa Fe streamliners as the train is serviced at Needles can testify to midsummer heat of around 110 degrees at midday.

However, the people of Needles have another asset —the Mojave Indian tribe and the Colorado River. The latter has been harnessed to supply water to Southern California and irrigation to both Arizona and California. But the river has not been developed specifically for recreation.

This is where the 13,000 acres owned by the Mojave Indians come in. There are 277 Mojaves in this tribe, and for about a year they have watched the Agua Caliente Indians get rich off Palm Springs and have wanted to lease their tribal lands as a resort.

☆ ☆ ☆

Citizens of Needles point out that while Palm Springs has its wonderful winter climate, the area near Needles has two other advantages. In addition to winter sunshine, it has the Colorado river, plus a strip of land in Nevada, a state which gives free rein to gambling.

Thus a new Palm Springs-Las Vegas may spring up on the edge of the California-Nevada-Arizona desert to make the 277 Mojave tribesmen independently wealthy, also bring new revenue to the town of Needles.

GOP Strategists Seek Upper Hand

WASHINGTON — Beneath the pleasant surface of the news about President-elect John Kennedy's namesake and the enchanting Miss Caroline Kennedy's wrigglings in church lie the stirrings of a partisan struggle which may deeply affect his presidency.

That struggle has not yet reached a critical, much less decisive, stage, but its existence and purposes are now clear.

What has happened is that Republicans have been encouraged to believe that they can cast doubt on the Kennedy victory, put him immediately on the defensive and abort his liberal program. These great expectations rest on the nature of the Kennedy triumph. It depended in part on big-city organizations long held in general disrepute.

In the early hours following the election these factors did not appear. Kennedy seemed headed for an electoral college landslide by way of the big states; the West and Midwest had not turned their backs on him.

☆ ☆ ☆

But when the final picture emerged, Republicans who play politics for keeps saw their chance. They set aside a war chest; $100,000 is the figure mentioned around national headquarters. They raised a hue and cry in states narrowly won by the Democratic nominees and they reread the fine print in the state election laws under which, rather than by federal statute, the electoral college operates.

The experts in Republican battles against Tammany Hall, the old Hague machine of Jersey City, the Cook County (Chicago) organization and similar Democratic bastions were called in. The South's electors were carefully canvassed.

It was not then believed nor is it now thought, that a clear-cut victory for Vice-President Richard Nixon, legally impregnable and acceptable to public opinion, could be secured. The vice-president, therefore, has wisely kept aloof from the present proceedings. He is aware that he would need a clear mandate and that it would be hazardous in the extreme to risk offense to the millions of Americans of the Catholic faith who very naturally are enjoying having the first president of that faith.

Architects of the present Republican strategems are not so inhibited. They are party leaders, charged with party responsibility, and they are building, they think, the party future.

They will not be appeased by appointment of Republicans to high office in a Kennedy administration nor of Democrats who have co-operated with President Eisenhower. Their aim is power, and they are playing the game as it really is always played at the top, which is the rough, tough way.

So far, the southern electors have held fast. Nixon regained California via the absentee ballots. The Chicago situation at this distance seems confused: the courts may have to decide whether the confusion is more apparent than real.

The president-elect and the Democrats have still to decide whether it is time to strike back and in what fashion, though some veterans in the Congress believe the situation is serious. Meanwhile, public opinion is forming or being formed and the electoral college does not meet until December 19.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Chadron Council On The Fence

By MONA B. PARKER

Headline writers have a decision ahead of them, so says Harold Spence in the Holdrege Citzen. With a new President in the offing, they've got to figure out what will do them best, typographically and otherwise. It could be "Jack" or JFK." The brevity need comes, of course, from headline spacing.

One thing is certain, however, Mr. Spence points out. We can't write it "Mr. K" because that's already taken. Perhaps choosing men with shorter names would be simplest. Stevenson or Symington or Rockefeller would have presented real problems.

One of Auburn Editor John Sanders' favorite worriers has developed a fine case of ulcers and is engrossed in trying to determine what brought them on.

"We're convinced that he accumulated a series of minor grudges and nursed them along until they simply united."

☆ ☆ ☆

Chadron's City Council may well wind up with a collective ulcer of its own, if all the civic problems presented for settling are as complex as one dumped in its lap recently . . .

How high is a fence, it must decide . . .

A structure is going up between two residences there. By ordinance, a fence across the back of a lot shall be no higher than six feet, and a fence on a side yard shall be no higher than four feet. Trouble is, this particular fence falls into both categories by reason of the placement of the two houses.

To further complicate matters, one lot level has been raised a total of four feet at the rear, held by a retaining wall, and there is much discussion from whence to measure the allowed height.

Jeanne McClanahan, writer for the Neligh News, joined a friend in an afternoon of pleasure, roaming the roadsides and byways in search of items for a winter bouquet. The two were particularly charmed by some stems that offered pretty chartreuse berries and gathered great armsful. Later her friend, a scout leader, called to let her know that their acquisition was poison sumac, a fact of which she already was painfully aware. The weeds, she says, have all been spaded under out in the garden. Now she's wondering if she has inadvertently planted them.

Latest opinion to leak out of council chambers is that interpretation of the present ordinance depends on which side of the fence you're on.

The Nebraska-South Dakota pheasant-hunting feud is reaching far afield. When mighty Texas recognizes anything beyond its own spacious borders, one can safely assume that it is newsworthy.

A San Antonio paper's discussion came to the attention of the Bertrand Herald, with an assertion that "the fraternity of pheasant hunters who annually trek to South Dakota and other midwestern ringneck country might well make a beeline for Nebraska, which has a huge crop of birds this year."

Boone County's Bob Reynoldson planted his 55 acres of corn this spring using four head of horses for his single-row lister, as he has been doing for more than half a century and, in the process, keeping well ahead of neighbors who employed more modern machinery. However, an illness this fall spoiled his record. He hasn't been able to follow his usual procedure of picking it by hand and has had to hire the job done by a picker-sheller, self-propelled machine.

Arch Jarrell, Grand Island Independent editor, looked back upon another phase of the good ol' days. There was a time, he remarks, although the younger generation of employed probably won't believe it, "when wages and take-home pay were synonymous, and a fellow worried about his own income tax instead of having the business office take care of it for him."

Harvey Visit

Lincoln, Neb.

So Paul Harvey is coming to town. And under the sponsorship of the Lincoln Teachers' Association. He will not leave the waters untroubled.

Most of us are already familiar with him through his radio broadcasts. He generally goes under the sponsorship of Chambers of Commerce or the American Legion. He is no egghead. In fact, he is the sort of man who is generally referred to by eggheads as "Rotarian" or "Philistine." He is the orator of the obvious and he knows which side his bread is buttered on. His outlook on government and economics is about the same as that of William McKinley. He used to be an admirer of Joe McCarthy. Sen. Goldwater probably rates in his book as commendable but with some dubious leftist tendencies. I do not think he will help solve any of the problems of education even though they are numerous and pressing at the present time.

Nevertheless, no one will go to sleep under the sound of his booming voice and his confident assertions. I think he will please most of Nebraskans who hear him and his ideology will seem to them about right. I am sure the Lincoln Teachers' Association will be commended by the majority of people who hear him. Teachers are generally presumed to be in the vanguard of progressive thinking. Paul Harvey is not likely to add much in this direction. But he thinks the world is a wonderful place just as it is and he doesn't want anyone to rock the boat.

W. T. DAVIS

Lincoln, Neb.

What does Albin Anderson mean by calling Paul Harvey a comedian? I listen to him every noon and don't know of another newsman who will, as the old saying goes, put all the cards on the table. Paul Harvey tells things the paper or news wouldn't mention. Maybe the radio or newspaper won't allow it, but Paul Harvey gets his four cents worth in whether they like it or not, and I haven't heard of his being sued for telling actual facts over the air.

I believe in saying what we think, believing and knowing, not keeping anything secret or being two-faced about it. And that's exactly what Mr. Harvey does. I feel as many who admire him for it. More power to P. H.

I don't believe in listening to these soft-word newsmen or preachers who talk to please the people. The trouble with people these days is that they want to hear soothing words so no one's feelings will be hurt. They don't want to know the down-to-earth facts. It might give them something to worry about and spoil their pleasures.

No Water Shortage

Grand Island, Neb.

I enjoyed reading Bob Considine's article and statistics on the use of water (Star, Nov. 30). I never have believed there is a shortage of water. There are areas where there is no water, but I believe this is the fault of the people who live in those areas. We have areas in Nebraska where they are out of water at times; still in 1960 there was enough water run out of Nebraska to supply the state's needs for years ahead. In March, April and May, 1961, this run-off of waste water will be repeated. It's nothing new to waste water in Nebraska or any other state. It's been going on for 103 years, and next year it will be 104 years.

Water comes to us free the year around but we make little effort to impound this run-off. It simply runs into the ravine, the creek and the river and then back to the sea, unused. As soon as we learn how to retain some of this run-off, there will be water for everyone and for every use in the United States.

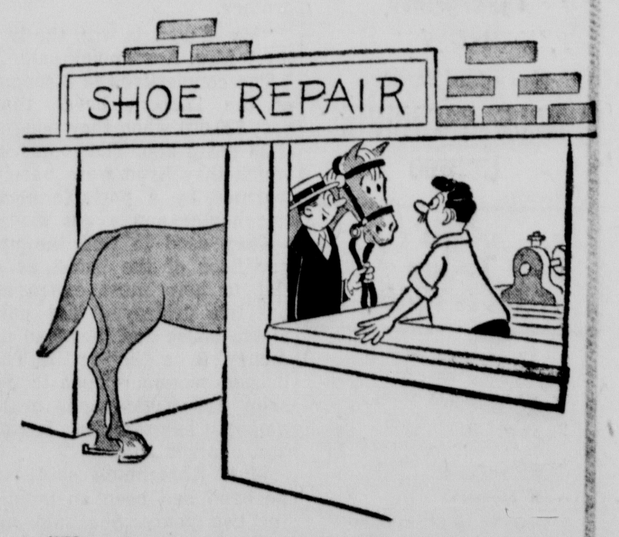

Wherever water runs, it can be trapped and impounded for future use. It can be diverted into perforated underground tile and washed into the soil. Surface run-off water can be drained into wells drilled down to coarse sand and gravel and used to refill those underground reservoirs that have been pumped dry. In place of our annual floods, most of this wasted water could be held where it falls on the land. Snow melting is a total loss every year. It melts while the ground is frozen and this frozen ground sheds water like pavement.

Saving this run-off water is too big a project for the people concerned to handle. This is where our government should help, with the cost being repaid over a period of years.

I never did believe there was a shortage of water or ever will be. It's just that we don't handle it right. Water can be used and reused time and time again. It can't be destroyed. I believe the same water is here today that was used to float Noah's Ark.

Special Agency Recommended For 40-Year Flood Control Program

A subcommittee of the governor's Advisory Flood Control Committee recommended Thursday that a special agency be set up to launch a 40-year program to control floods in Nebraska.

The subcommittee, headed by Earl T. Luff of Lincoln, said the unit should be under the Department of Water Resources, and should have a staff adequate to formulate an overall plan in 1st, 5th, 15th and 40th year stages.

The report was among those of 10 subcommittees which composed the 150-page final report of the flood control committee set up earlier this year by the late Gov. Ralph Brooks after the spring floods in Nebraska.

Given to Burney

The final, composite report was presented to Gov. Dwight Burney by Warren D. Fairchild, executive secretary of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Committee, and Dan S. Jones Jr., director of the State Department of Water Resources, coordinators of the subcommittees.

The Luff subcommittee recommended that complete guidelines for a formula of action be completed the first year; that by the 5th year, a flood warning system be established, and recommendations be made to the legislature for state funds.

By the 15th year, the most important of the projects should be competed or under way, and by the end of the 40th year, the biennial revisions be continuing to complete the program.

There were numerous other recommendations and observations in the composite report.

For example, the watershed protection subcommittee, under Milton H. Fricke of the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee, said that at the present rate of planning 4 watershed projects a year, it will take 100 years to complete Nebraska's needs.

It recommended a rate of 10 per year, which would take 40 years. At the average size of 60,000 acres per watershed, it would take 400 watersheds to complete the treatment of the 25 million acres in Nebraska that need it.

Planning should be done at the earliest possible time in order to coordinate plans with future road, parks and flood control projects.

Hospital Numbers Drop; Capacity Increases

The number of general or community hospitals in Nebraska has declined from 119 to 114 since 1947, but total capacity has increased from 5,016 to 6,492 beds.

That was among findings in the first of a series of reports to be issued during a 3-year research project.

The study is made possibly by a $100,000 U.S. Public Health Service grant to the State Health Department's hospital division.

Directing the project in which the University of Nebraska is cooperating are sociologist Richard A. Kurtz and Donald E. Saathoff, hospital administrative degree graduate.

Many Are Small

Of the 114 hospitals, 60% are licensed at a capacity of less than 30 beds. Gradually disappearing from the scene are hospitals with fewer than 20 beds. In 1947 there were 70 such hospitals, but only 28 remained this year.

One-fourth of the hospitals licensed have less than 20 beds and there is a "wide range of capacities among the 40% with 30 or more beds," the report said.

Sixty per cent of the short term general hospitals are non-profit corporations, one-fourth are state, county or city hospitals, and 15% are proprietary institutions.

Twenty-five of the 114 hospitals have entered into leasing agreements, under which the owners contract with a second party for the responsibility of operating and maintaining the hospital.

The largest general hospital is St. Joseph's in Omaha with 616 beds and the smallest is Reed Hospital at Deshler with 6 beds and 4 bassinets.

Occupancy rates among the hospitals vary from a high of more than 100% to a low of 22%. Half of the short-term general hospitals are running at less than 52.5% occupancy.

Slightly less than one-fourth maintained an occupancy of 70% or more in 1959 while 18% reported rates of less than 40%.

The research project shows there are 21 special hospitals in Nebraska, with a total bed capacity of 8,964. Twelve of these have more than 100 beds.

Three of the 5 mental or psychiatric hospitals have 90% or more average daily occupancy, the 3 Veterans Administration units report more than 80% daily occupancy and 3 of the 4 institutional departments have occupancy of less than 30% daily.

Chamber Slates Special Meeting

A special meeting of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce has been set tentatively for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday to brief members on the University of Nebraska's proposed alternate Lincoln Interstate access route.

According to Chamber President William Gold, University officials and owners of property directly west of the presently planned access route will be at the special session.

The Chamber's stand on the Interstate generally is "full speed ahead, without any delays that will make Lincoln an island in the Interstate plan."

Opportunities Ahead In State, Ag Students Told

Youth today is not restricted by the thought that there is nothing more to be developed for the benefit of mankind, an Omaha banker declared Thursday night.

Everett Spangler, vice president of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha, made the statement before College of Agriculture students attending a Professional Opportunities Conference.

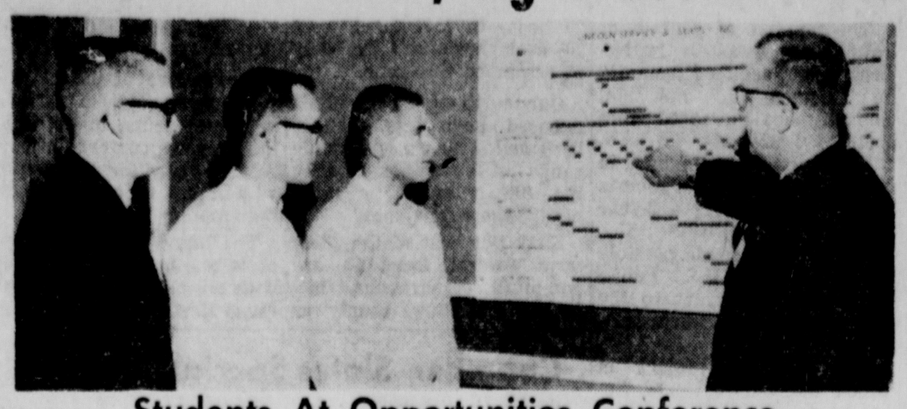

Spanger quoted a statement by the U.S. Department of Interior in 1885 which indicated that practically all things for the good of mankind had been developed and that there would be no challenge in the future.

"There are no hurdles like that to cross today," he declared.

Necessity

Spangler said a college education is almost a necessity to take advantage of the opportunities in the future. Persons with a college education have greater ability to think things through and accept responsibility, he said.

Before applying for the first job, Spangler urged students to analyze their own strengths and weaknesses.

Students At Opportunities Conference

Howard Peterson of Grand Island, representing the fertilizer industry, shows a group of students a fertilizer sales chart at the Ag College professional opportunities conference. The boys are (left to right) David Whitney of Humboldt, Robert Ambrosek of Haigler and David Armstrong of Clear Water. (Star Photo.)

Such an analysis can help avoid disappointment for the person as well as the employer.

While there has been concern about Nebraska youth leaving the state in search of greater opportunities, the Omaha banker said he feels this trend may be reversed in the years ahead.

"Industry is moving towards Nebraska. There are industries in eastern Iowa today that were not there a year ago," Spangler declared.

In addition to moving into new areas, the banker said businesses and industries are changing. They are getting bigger, but they are also becoming more specialized and diverse. In fact, many of the diversified industries are becoming more and more specialized.

"These changes in business and industry may benefit the young person seeking employment," he said. "Such firms make it possible for an employe to change jobs without leaving the firm."

"Specialized training helps the student learn how to think. Although the person may end up in a job other than his specialized field, he has developed the ability to think. This ability will prove to be an asset in any job."

Spangler's talk came at the conclusion of a full afternoon of career conferences with business, industry, and government agency representatives talking with students at the College of Agriculture. Students from the freshmen to senior level had an opportunity to talk with representaties of 28 different fields.

Brogden Outlines Traffic Plan At Chamber Forum

City-County Planning Director Douglas Brogden explained the major thoroughfares for Lincoln as outlined in the Preliminary Report of the Regional Plan for Lincoln-Lancaster County Thursday at a public forum sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Brogden pointed out main streets on maps as outlined for the Capital City in 1980.

The goal is to direct traffic into the corners of downtown Lincoln to parking facilities, rather than to the heart of the shopping area, from whence persons spread out at the present time, Brogden explained.

He said the plan will serve as a guide for city planning but not as a rule.

Thursday's meeting was the first in a series of 4 being sponsored by the Chamber the Thursday preceding the Wednesday hearings being held by the City-County Planninc Commission.

Blaze Damage Near $100,000

Lincoln Star Special

Emerson—Damage to merchandise lost in the Gamble Store blaze at Emerson was estimated at between $95,000 and $100,000 Wednesday by Lloyd Heydlauff, owner and manager.

Heydlauff disclosed approximately 75% of the stock, including all the Christmas items, was destroyed by the flames Wednesday, starting in the basement.

The loss figures do not include damage to the building, almost completely destroyed, Heydlauff said.

The manager revealed he hopes to move the remaining merchandise into another building for fire sale purposes. Other than that future plans for the store were not disclosed.

At the height of the blaze, firemen from Wakefield and Pender aided Emerson volunteer fire fighters.

Retaliation For Speeding Ticket?

Two Safety Patrol troopers reported to police Thursday that vandals smashed the windshields of their patrol cars late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

Atomic Blast Due On Paper Sunday

Omaha (AP) — A simulated atomic blast will touch off a paper war on Sunday.

The aggressor Army headquarters will be the 16th Corps Headquarters in Omaha. Opposing the aggressor force will be the 1st Corps.

Months of preparation have gone into the one-day "war." The "battleground" is on the German-Czech border, an area familiar to many officers taking part.

Bobby, Sandra Couldn't Wait

Elizabeth, N.J. (AP) — The judge granted permission while still in his pajamas and bathrobe, the bride borrowed a wedding ring, and singer Bobby Darin married movie starlet Sandra Dee in a spur of the moment ceremony Thursday.

The two were to wed Friday, but "they kind of looked at one another and that was it," Mrs. Carmine Maffia, Darin's sister and the matron of honor said in describing the couple's decision to marry immediately.

13 STATES READY FOR MORRISON CONFERENCE

Governor-elect Frank Morrison Thursday conferred by telephone with the governors or governor-elect of 6 midwestern states.

Morrison issued personal invitations to his Bread Basket Governors Conference in Lincoln Dec. 12.

Most of the governors, he said, indicated they will send either their administrative assistants or directors of agriculture to Lincoln for the meeting.

A number, Morrison noted, will be occupied with budget hearings that week.

However, he pointed out, he has received assurances that all but one of the 14 invited states will be represented at the conference.

Involved in telephone conversations Thursday were Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Governor-elect John Anderson of Kansas, Governor-elect William Guy of North Dakota, Governor-elect Norman Erbe of Iowa, Governor-elect John Dalton of Missouri, and Gov. J. J. Hickey of Wyoming.

Morrison also announced that he will confer with state department heads and his budget advisors Dec. 19-21 to determine his administration's budget recommendations.

State Sen. Norman Otto, the governor-elect's administrative assistant, will represent Morrison at remaining budget hearings before Gov. Dwight Burney.

Otto will join State Sen. Otto Liebers, Morrison's budget advisor, at the sessions, the governor-elect said.

Morrison left Lincoln late Thursday by air for Washington where he will confer Friday with Robert Kennedy, brother of the President-elect.

STANDBY SENATORS NAMED AS NEW LAW TAKES EFFECT

Quietly and unobtrusively, Nebraska laws designed to give the state and its political subdivisions continuity of government in the event of enemy attack took effect this week.

Four related bills passed by the 1959 legislature automatically become effective Monday when Gov. Dwight Burney formally proclaimed passage of an enabling constitutional amendment at the Nov. 8 general election.

State Sen. Joseph T. Vosoba of Wilber made the first move under the new laws Thursday when he appointed 7 "standby legislators," in a specified order of rank, to replace him should an enemy attack make him unavailable for legislative duty.

Under the law each senator must within the next 4 weeks —30 days after the law took effect—make similar appointments.

Each state official other than the governor also must, within the 30 day period, appoint from 3 to 7 alternates for his job.

Sen. Vosoba named Joseph B. Horacek, Wilber contractor, as his first standby from the 23rd district (Saline and Fillmore counties). The other 6, in order, are Adolph J. Kotas, Milligan grocer; Gerald J. Hallstead, Crete attorney; Harvey L. Abker, Geneva salesman; Thomas Manning, Fairmont businessman; Glenn Lewis, Exeter farmer and cattle feeder, and Paul Rhynalds, banker at Western.

Vosoba notified Secretary of State Frank Marsh of the appointments.

Venezuelan Civilians Rally To Save Government

Caracas, Venezuela (AP)—Armed civilians rallied to President Romulo Betancourt's harassed Democratic government Thursday night and fired on rioting leftist arsonists.

The shooting was touched off by attempts of young student rebels to burn a bus. Scattered gunfire between the opposing factions continued for 20 minutes until national guardsmen took over against the demonstrators. There were no reports of injuries.

It was the first time civilian government supporters turned on the leftists who have staged a bloody week-long rebellion for a Castro-type government to replace the Betancourt regime.

The support of the civilians was reflected in rank-and-file labor union members who have generally backed Betancourt in attacks from both the right and left.

The fight between the civilians and the leftists was in the Plaza Venezuela near the students' self-styled "Stalingrad" dormitory in the University of Caracas where some 250 young hard-core Marxists are barricaded.

The entrenched students opened fire from their fortress to cover the advance of a band that had sallied out to burn the bus.

Police are barred by law from entering the university, which is supposed to be responsible for its own discipline. The government also has been cautious to avoid bloodshed when possible, fearing a deterioration of the situation. Also, the university, as is traditional in Latin American countries, has the status of a sanctuary the government is reluctant to violate.

University authorities as well as the government have ordered the university vacated by the students who have thrown up machine-gun posts and dared government troops to oust them.

The die-hards barricaded themselves in buildings last Friday when street rioting broke out against Betancourt's moderate socialist government.

Two persons, including one student, were killed and 5 were injured in an outbreak of gunfire Wednesday between the entrenched students and government troops.

Ordered Out

Betancourt has ordered the students out of the university buildings and University Rector Francisco de Venanzi has pleaded with them to abandon their barricade.

One person was killed and another was wounded, apparently by snipers, as the rioting went into its 7th day. The death brought to 9 the number of persons killed in the disturbances which the government charges were fomented by Communists seeking to replace the Betancourt administration with a regime like Fidel Castro's in Cuba.

Luis Dubuc, minister of the interior, said the government had the situation in hand.

A strike call among bank workers was only 20% effective and failed in its goal to paralyze the country's financial operations.

The government said earlier disorders had spread to other cities in the interior, including Venezuela's rich oil center at Maracaibo. There was no indication of a situation that was out of control.

Cooper Committee Expenses $19,000

The John C. Cooper for Governor committee reported spending $19,621 for the unsuccessful campaign of Cooper in the race for the Nebraska governorship.

Cooper was defeated by Democrat Frank Morrison in the Nov. 8 election.

The expense report was filed with the secretary of state by committee chairman R. J. McFayden of Omaha.

Aeronautics Dept. Completes 1960 Marking Project

Assistant State Aeronautics Director Walt Kruescher said Thursday the Aeronautics Department has recently completed the 1960 airmarking program designed to assist disoriented airmen across Nebraska.

Kruescher said the area covered this year was in the northwestern part of the state including 100 towns.

He said about a fourth of the state is covered every year and at the end of a four year period, the process begins over again.

Airmarking consists of selecting a large roof in a town and painting the name of the town on the roof with an arrow pointing to the nearest airport and the number of miles to that airport, he said.

Kruescher said airmarkers were normally used in communities where there was no airport nearby or in towns where there were airports that were hard to see from the air.

Pep Banner

Accra, Ghana (AP)—Russia's Young Pioneer organization has sent Ghana's new Young Pioneers gifts including a trumpet, a drum and a banner reading: "To the struggle for the Communist Party, be ready."

Meeting Set On Columbus Air Problems

The State Aeronautics Department and the Columbus Airport Authority will meet in the state capitol "in the immediate future" to discuss the status uf Columbus with Frontier Airlines, Assistant State Aeronautics Director Walt Kruescher said Thursday.

Columbus has been ready for air service for several weeks. Frontier has received directives from the Columbus Airport Authority, the State Railway Commission and the Aeronautics Department to begin service to Columbus on its northern route.

Frontier said it would be unwilling to serve Columbus on the northern route but would be willing to include Columbus on its central route.

Kreuscher said Columbus would be better off on the northern route. He said a service delaying jog would be created if Columbus were added to the central route.

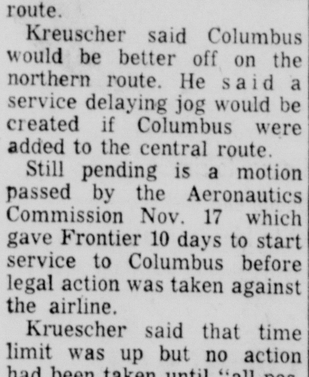

Still pending is a motion passed by the Aeronautics Commission Nov. 17 which gave Frontier 10 days to start service to Columbus before legal action was taken against the airline.

Kruescher said that time limit was up but no action had been taken until "all possible solutions to the problem have been studied."

Frontier is continuing service on its northern and southern routes because of injunctions forcing it to do so filed against the airline by the state of Nebraska.

New Space Zoo In Orbit

. . . Red Scientist Fears Rocket May Burn and Kill Cargo

Moscow (UPI) — Russia launched a 5-ton "Arknik" spaceship loaded with two dogs and other living creatures into orbit Thursday as a prelude to manned space flight, but there was fear the rocket would burn and kill its occupants.

A Russian scientist dampened jubilation over the heaviest-yet space shot by warning that unless it was brought down from its cigar-shaped orbit "very soon," it might hit the earth's atmosphere and burn into a cinder like a shooting star.

Dogs Doing Well

The dogs Pchekla (Little Bee) and Mushka (Little Fly) were reported in "satisfactory condition" as the huge rocket soared in an orbit that carried it around earth once every 88.49 minutes on a "medical-biological research" probe for space flight.

Its closest point to earth (perigee) was estimated at 111.94 miles by Russian scientists. Its farthest point (apogee) was 154.72 miles.

As its familiar beep-beep signal sounded from space on a radio frequency of 19.995 megacycles, a spokesman for the British tracking station at Jodrell Bank said the Russians now seemed ready for the ultimate—a man shot.

"Any Day Now"

"We expect a similar launching with a man aboard any day now," said the British spokesman.

The "arknik," sailing at an angle of 64 degrees and 58 minutes to the equator, carried other animals, insects and plant life.

The shot was larger than the spaceship launched last Aug. 19 which landed safely Aug. 20 with the space dogs strelka and belka.

Clark Notes Advances After 40 Years On Mental Board

Forty years ago Thursday Lincoln Atty. C. L. Clark was first appointed to what is now called the County Mental Health Board.

But on Dec. 1, 1920, Clark recalls, it was called the County Board of Insanity.

Clark said "tremendous advances" have been made in the treatment of the mentally ill since he was appointed to the board. "Forty years ago," he said, "we sent them to the state hospital and forgot about them — they were just put away for life."

But today's specialized treatment of mental disorders has assurred that two out of every 3 persons committed to a state hospital will be released after treatment, Clark said.

What is the main cause of mental illness?

"Heredity," Clark replies. This is true today as in 1920, he said.

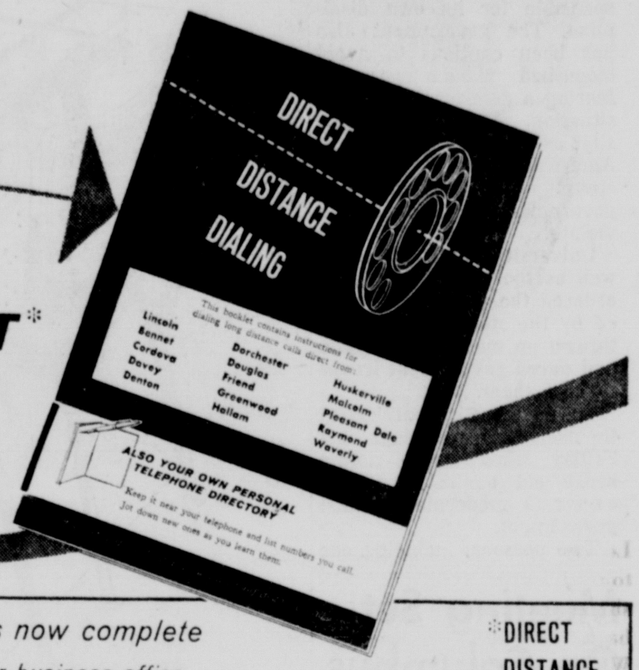

But Clark noted that alcoholism now causes or contributes to the mental illnesses of many more persons than it formerly did.

Besides Clark, the health board now is comprised of Dr. Rex Strader and District Court Clerk Wilford F. Sanders. They hold hearings each Tuesday on persons suspected of being mentally ill.

Omaha (AP) — Northern Natural Gas Co., Omaha, has announced a decision to merge with the Permian Basin Pipeline Co., of which Northern presently owns 93.2% of the common stock and 57.9% of the preferred stock.

Northern said the directors of the two firms, in separate meetings, approved the merger, but Federal Power Commission authorization is necessary before the merger can be effective.

Northern, the surviving company, will exchange .45 of a share of common stock for each of the 169,134 shares of Permian common stock and one share of its newly authorized 5.75% cumulative preferred stock for each of the 341,250 shares of Permian's cumulative preferred stock. Northern also will assume $21,311,000 of first mortgage pipeline bonds of Permian.

Colleen's Champ Barrow Sells For Record $23 Mark

Chicago (AP) — The grand champion barrow of the International Livestock Exposition brought a record price of $23 a pound at auction.

The old record price was $19.25 a pound. The new price compared with about 18 cents a pound being paid for choice porkers in Wednesday's Chicago livestock market.

Shown by 9-year-old Colleen Rae Callahan of Milford, Ill., youngest exhibitor in Chicago show history, the 205-pound Hampshire was bought for $4,715 by Ed P. Dickey, president of Honegger Feed Co., of Fairbury, Ill.

The grand champion truckload of swine, exhibited by Father Flanagan's Home in Boys Town, Neb., sold for $45 a hundredweight or 45 cents a pound to an Ohio buyer.

WHY your grocer points with pride... to the ROBERTS name on his milk carton

For obvious reasons, milk may not be fully protected from chemical impurities either through heat or refrigeration. Only laboratory checking and control can assure this safeguard in conformity with new federal law.

Your processor is responsible for this protection. The Roberts name on the carton represents Roberts' acceptance of this responsibility.

That is why your conscientious grocer points with pride to the Roberts name, whether on a premium or economy carton of milk. For he, too, is interested in your well-being.

Morrison Plans Board To Study Government

By Glenn Kreuscher

Initial plans for establishing a sounding board for state government were announced by Gov.-elect Frank Morrison Thursday in an address at the annual convention of the Nebraska Assn. of Nurserymen.

Morrison, in revealing his plans, said, "I plan to appoint a bi-partisan standing committee of individuals, outside the scope of government, to study our state goverment for ways to improve efficiency and to give the taxpayer more money for the tax dollar."

Morrison later mentioned that the board would include both Republicans and Democrats with announcement of participants to be made at a later date.

Efficiency

Morrison told nurserymen that he viewed the position of governor as one where it was the responsibility of the governor to see that each department functioned as efficiently as possible.

"When wheels begin to spin, or if we encounter irresponsible personnel, it is the governor's job to make the corrections," he said.

Few persons seem to realize that when they elect a governor they are placing him at the head of a business that spends an estimated $60 million a year, Morrison said.

As an example of efficiency in state government Morrison singled out the Department of Agriculture which he said, "in my estimation has done one of the best jobs the past two years and it is the only department that has reported not needing as much money as was previously allotted."

In the field of beautification, Morrison considered the "prospects wide-open" for action to make our lakes, highways and communities more attractive.

This he said, "is one of the most important ingredients in promoting our state."

Talk among the nurserymen Thursday was centering on support and encouragement for community beautification through planned work by the Federated Garden Clubs of the state.

Officers elected for 1961 were: President, Vernon Marshall of Arlington, Vice President, Ted Korves of Fremont and Secretary-Treasurer, Jim Elliott of Fremont.

Duane Speidell of Lincoln, continued support from nurserymen on the proposal adopted last year to encourage landscaping of the new Interstate highway.

The annual banquet was held Thursday evening.

Friday activities at the Cornhusker Hotel will continue with business sessions and discussion of dutch elm disease and garden chemicals.

Dr. John Weihing and Dr. Robert Roselle of the University of Nebraska will preside over the afternoon conference on use of chemicals.

Funeral Services Set Friday For Mrs. Hussong

Funeral of Mrs. Katie A. Hussong, 89, of 1549 So. 23rd, will be Friday at 2 p.m. at the Westminster Presbyterian Church Chapel.

Mrs. Hussong died Wednesday.

The Rev. Frederick Roblee will officiate and Mrs. Murray Spurgin will act as soloist. Organist will be Josephine Waddell. Burial will be at Wyuka Cemetery.

She was the widow of F. R. Hussong, longtime Lincoln auto dealer, who preceded her in death in 1947.

A lifelong Nebraska resident, she was born in Omaha and lived in Lincoln for the past 65 years.

She was a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church and DK Chapter of PEO, as well as a life member of the Lincoln Woman's Club at the YWCA. She was also a past president of Hall in Grove, a stuay club.

The Lincoln Woman's Club honored her in 1953 for "consistently contributing to the welfare and lives of others." She was a member of the board of directors for the YWCA from 1923-1929.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Alice Bieberstein of Lincoln, a grandson, Paul R. Bieberstein of Englewood, Calif., and two great granddaughters, Stephanie and Laurie Ann Bieberstein of Englewood.

Ribicoff Followed Middle-Of-Road Philosophy

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Gov. Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare in President-elect Kennedy's cabinet, followed the middle of the road to political success.

The key words in his political lexicon are "moderation," "compromise," and "cooperation."

The 50-year-old governor says he travels the middle of the road because he believes it is the way to get things done in politics and government.

Behind this soft-spoken philosophy, however, is a man of political courage and daring.

As a congressman, he opposed "pork barrel" legislation that would have benefitted his district.

As governor, Ribicoff initiated a license-suspension program against highway speeders that even his supporters viewed at the time as a form of political suicide.

Ribicoff's road carried him from a tenement in New Britain, Conn., where he was born, to the cabinet of a president.

First Jewish Chief

The son of poor immigrant parents, Ribicoff became the first Jewish governor in this predominantly Protestant-Roman Catholic New England state.

For Ribicoff, his election as governor was the realization of "the American dream."

This dream, he said in the closing days of his first gubernatorial campaign, was "that any boy, no matter what his economic, social or religious background might be, has the right to aspire and to achieve anything open to anyone in this great country of ours."

This speech has already become a part of the political lore of Connecticut. A few days later, Ribicoff was elected governor by a plurality of 3,115.

Gets Clean Sweep

Four years later, he was reelected by a record plurality of 246,000 votes. He gave Democrats a clean sweep of all major state offices.

Ribicoff was among the first prominent public figures to support the presidential aspirations of the president-elect. He was Kennedy's floor manager at the Los Angeles nominating convention and was one of Kennedy's closest advisors during the campaign.

Ribicoff and Kennedy first met while they were serving in Congress. At the 1956 National Democratic Convention, Ribicoff was the floor manager for Kennedy's strong but unsuccessful bid for the vice-presidential nomination.

Immediately after the convention this year, it was Ribicoff who served as the intermediary in bringing about a reconciliation between Kennedy and former President Harry S. Truman. Truman had opposed Kennedy's nomination and had stayed away from the convention.

Ribicoff's career fits the pattern of the favorite American success story.

He was the son of a factory hand and peddler. He worked as a newsboy, errand boy, caddy, laborer.

After high school, he worked for a hardware company, then went to Chicago to head its sales office there. He was graduated with honors from the University of Chicago Law School, returned to Hartford in 1933 and entered law practice.

Started In '38

His political career began in 1938. He served two terms in the state legislature, two terms as a police court judge in Hartford, and two terms in Congress. In 1952 he ran for the U.S. Senate.

The Senate race was his first and, so far, only political defeat. He lost to Sen. Prescott Bush by 29,000 votes while President Eisenhower was defeating Adlai Stevenson by 129,000.

Ribicoff supporters say that the "magic" of the Ribicoff personality alone accounts for his success.

His opponents call him a political "glamor boy" built up by hired public relations men. They disparage what they call the "phoney Ribicoff image." Politically, their strongest charge is what they call "fiscal irresponsibility" in managing the affairs of the state.

What is the Ribicoff image?

His supporters see a handsome man who inspires sighs in women, admiration in men. He is an impeccable dresser without being a fashion plate. He is soft-spoken, calm, gentle in manner. He exudes charm and sincerity. He radiates a sense of excitement wherever he is.

Politically, his admirers see a man who gets things done.

Ribicoff married Ruth Siegel of Hartford in 1931 while in Chicago. He met her at a high school dance. They have a son, Peter, 23, now an English teacher at the Alameda (Calif.) high School, and a daughter, Jane, 19, a freshman at Pine Manor Junior College in Wellesley, Mass.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

It's only money, honey. But my Money Man is pretty gloomy these days about the incoming Kennedy Administration. And I want to set him right. (I cannot stand gloom around the scatter.)

"What I look for is a gradual decline in the value of the dollar," he said.

If you do not know what a Money Man is, he is a man who looks after your money. I do not have loads of lettuce. But what I have, the Money Man looks at. When he looks, he looks gloomy.

That is the kind of Money Man to have. I would not want a Money Man who was happy with what I had. A Money Man should do your worrying for you. It is a labor-saving device.

☆ ☆ ☆

"It was a question whether we would preserve the buying power of the dollar or let it fall beneath the pressures of a more socialistic government," said the Money Man.

"How do you make that out, Money Man?" I asked. "Here is Jack Kennedy, who is Mr. Joe Kennedy's son. Mr. Joe Kennedy is fixed with big bills like you and I are fixed with dimes.

"Do you think," I said, "that the President is going to break his papa's rice bowl? Is he going to say, 'Dad, your dollar is now worth half a clam'?"

That is what I honestly think.

I have noticed that people raised with plenty of loot are very careful with this loot.

They do not throw it around—like I do when I get an unexpected check, for example. I got a check for $50 the other day. I blew it like Diamond Jim Brady. I forget what I got. But I got $50 worth, let me tell you.

☆ ☆ ☆

We people without large money do that. And let me tell you why. We do it because big money is unexpected.

We do not expect it. So the only thing we know is to blow it. The Last of the Big Time Spenders.

"That is the reason, Money Man," I said, "that I expect Mr. Kennedy to run a cool and cautious administration. On the financial side."

☆ ☆ ☆

My money man belongs to an exclusive club. It is filled with gentlemen who have loot and expect it.

Therefore, if it is not coming in as expected, they are unhappy.

☆ ☆ ☆

I like a worrying Money Man. But I do not want my Money Man to break up, either.

Do you know what I have done for him? I joined him up with another club. I joined him up with the Press Club.

'Our Press Club is about 100 years old, Money Man,' I said. "And in all its glorious history, no member has expected money.

The Money Man will make a good member of our club. There is too much leaping amid the summer barley with us. We can use a few thrifty ants and help them worry.

Tour of the Town

—There is more news of Christmas this morning, but there also is news of brides-elect—and we have a home-comer or two to mention.

We hear that the members of a feminine coffee club and their husbands have a big date the evening of Saturday, Dec. 10 — Two of the coffee club members and their husbands — Mr. and Mrs. Foster Woodruff and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Phillipps are to be hosts and hostesses at a Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff.

We can't tell everything we know about the evening other than there are plans for a dinner—What else is to go on is a deep and dark secret until the night of the party.

* * *

—Next Tuesday is take-off day for Mrs. F. H. Deurmyer who will be on her way to San Francisco to spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Welton and their family. The Weltons, by the way, really reside at Atherton—down on the Peninsula, but within commuting distance of San Francisco. Mrs. Deurmyer plans to return home in mid-January.

* * *

—And this morning we add the name of Miss Mary Helen Mallory to our holiday guest list. Miss Mallory will arrive from Boston on Dec. 18, and will be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mallory during Christmas week.

From Omaha on Christmas day—and for Christmas dinner, will come Mr. and Mrs. Mallory's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hale and their two children, Bobby and Meg; and Mr. Mallory's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Deane Mallory.

* * *

—Back home again is Mrs. Kent Morgan, national vice-president of Pi Beta Phi, who spent the past month visiting chapters on the west coast, and the southwest. En route home Mrs. Morgan was joined in Denver by Mr. Morgan, and the two were Thanksgiving week end guests at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Olsen and their small son, Kent.

* * *

—It is proper and fitting that our December brides should be incentives for pre-holiday entertaining — and they are.

On Saturday evening, for instance, Miss Angie Holbert, and her fiance, Harold Johnson, whose marriage will take place at the First Methodist Church on the evening of Saturday, Dec. 17, will share honors when Mr. and Mrs. Don Wenzl and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brown are hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wenzl.

Sixteen guests have been invited for an informal evening, and Miss Holbert and Mr. Johnson will be presented with a vice shower.

* * *

—And this morning Miss Holbert makes announcement of the bridal entourage. For her maid of honor the bride-elect has chosen her sister, Miss Louise Holbert, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Allan Holbert of Minneapolis, will be the matron of honor. Mrs. Donald Wenzl, Mrs. Wayne Brown and Mrs. Ted Dewey are to be the bridesmatrons. Candles will be lighted by Miss Julie Bowers and Miss Lynn Gomon.

Fred Holbert will serve the bridegroom as best man, and seating the guests will be Allan Holbert of Minneapolis; Jack Kraft of North Platte; Gary Aksamit of Crete; Larry Johnson and Wayne Brown.

* * *

—Another of the December brides is Miss Marnie Gardner whose marriage to Jeffre Cheuvront will be solemnized on Dec. 22.

Honoring Miss Gardner on Saturday will be the members of a bridge club to which her mother, Mrs. Fred Gardner, belongs, when they entertain at luncheon at the home of Mrs. O. A. Reinhard. Luncheon places will be arranged for 12, and Miss Gardner will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

News Of Suburbia

PRAIRIE VALLEY

Arriving today for an indefinite visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Hagen are Mr. Hagen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hagen of Spokane, Wash.

Prior to their arrival in Lincoln, the Hagens visited in Los Angeles.

A Thanksgiving week end houseguest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Eden was Maj. Roland Wolfe. Maj. Wolfe, a former Lincoln resident, is stationed at McDill Air Force Base in Tampa, Fla.

Mention of the Edens reminds us that Mrs. Zillah Eden accompanied the Paul Eden family to Hampton, Iowa, for the Thanksgiving holidays, and for a visit at the home of Mrs. Paul Eden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omie Huston of Hampton.

Understand that former Lincolnites, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Kellner were in town during the Thanksgiving week end, and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davey. The Kellners now are residing in Rockford, Ill.

Recent houseguests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davey were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alderson of Grand Island, who visited in Lincoln last Thursday and Friday. Mrs. Alderson is the former Diane Mertz, whose marriage to Richard Alderson took place November 12.

Also visiting the Daveys were Mrs. Alderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Mertz of Grand Island, who spent Friday and Saturday in the suburb.

Our list of Thanksgiving guests continues when we mention that Mrs. William Hoskinson of Grand Island spent Thanksgiving at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gayle B. Childs.

And we'll also mention that Mr. and Mrs. Anson Nash who reside in Cambridge, Ill., spent a long Thanksgiving week end at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blomgren on Prairie Road.

This Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Obermeyer will journey to Martell to attend the wedding of their niece, Miss Sheryl Bamsey. This will be a special occasion for the Obermeyer's young son, Lee, as he will serve his cousin as ring bearer in the wedding.

Saturday evening, three couples have been invited to the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Epp, to help Mrs. Epp celebrate her birthday anniversary. The guest list includes Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Epp of Henderson; Capt. and Mrs. Phil Samuels, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Blomgren. Incidentally, the party will be held at the Epp's new home at 4719 Calvert.

EASTRIDGE

Celebrating her eighth birthday anniversary at an after-school party on Tuesday was Rebecca Lisa Procopio, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. B. J. Procopio, who entertained her third grade cassmates at her home. Games and refreshments were planned for the 32 guests.

Speaking of the Procopios reminds us that their houseguest this week is Lt. Richard Conca, formerly stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base, who is visiting with friends in the city for several days. Recently receiving his discharge from the service, he is en route from Selfridge Air Force Base to his home in Los Angeles, where he plans to continue his law studies at UCLA.

CLUBS

The traditional "collection of dolls" of the Lancaster County MEDICAL AUXILIARY will be held Monday afternoon when the members meet at the home of Mrs. Paul Goetowski, 2230 Washington, for their December luncheon.

Following the 12:45 o'clock luncheon, a program of Christmas music will be given by students at the University of Nebraska School of Music.

Co-chairmen for the luncheon are Mrs. R. O. Garlinghouse and Mrs. H. R. Horn, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Becker, Mrs. J. W. Bengston, Mrs. William Brill, Mrs. Allan Campbell, Mrs. E. A. The annual Christmas brunch of the Chamber of Commerce WOMEN'S DIVISION will be held Sunday at 12:30 o'clock at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Approximately 300 are expected to attend and special guests will be Mr. and Mrs. William Gold, Mr. and Mrs. William Dobier, Lt. Jerome Goodrich, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Heydon and the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Philippi.

Miss Betty Topliff is chairman of the hostess committee and will be assisted by Miss Esther Borchers, Miss Virginia Dolan, Miss Elva Elliott, Miss Ann Green, Miss Vera Miller, Miss Charlene Moore, Miss Marguerite Muir, Miss Edna Russell, Miss Roberta Schmidt, Miss Carol Green, Mrs. Margaret Bauman, Mrs. Maxine Bottorff, Mrs. Lenore Brady, Mrs. Eleanor Frohn, Mrs. Joan Gustafson, Mrs. Genevieve Kundert, Mrs. Bonnie Rudisil, Mrs. Ruth Sanders and Mrs. Georgia Robertson.

Mrs. G. E. McKeen was hostess on Wednesday to the members of the LENOX CLUB. Following luncheon, the afternoon hours were spent informally with games.

Guests of the club were Mrs. C. B. Douglas, Mrs. H. H. Puckett and Mrs. May Ludwig.

CHATTER in the CORRIDOR

What the well dressed high school girl (those at Pius X) should wear to the Crystal Ball doubtless is debated each pre-holiday season. This year is no exception when it comes to the many questions that every teen-age girl has concerning her "party dress". Is it too long, too short? Should she or should she not wear jewelry? Will she be admired by the girls, AND the boys, naturally.

Those questions were answered by a group of the Pius X girls when they and their dancing frocks previewed for each other at the home of Lucy Mutchie on Wednesday evening.

Showing their "ball gowns" to be worn at the traditional Crystal Ball on Dec. 7, are:

BY LUCY MUTCHIE

Seniors at work!

The Seniors of Pius X are hosts for the annual Crystal Ball, being held December 7 in the school activity room. The theme this year depicts "Crystal Caverns." Girls in beautiful formals and party dresses will be dancing with their escorts amidst the glittering scenery.

John Curran, John Love, and Suzanne Armstrong, senior class officers, have chosen committees to plan the event. Chairmen of the various committees are: John Lonnquist, seating; Janice Haag, decorations; Nancy White, food; Terry Connelly, waiters; Joann Adams, miscellaneous; Jules VanDersarl and Larry Rice, clean up; and Steve Creal, publicity.

Pius held its annual retreat last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, which consisted of conferences, private devotions, and spiritual readings. The whole student body participated in taking inventory of its spiritual assets and deficits. Father Robert Syrianey, pastor of Our Lady of Fatima Parish in Lakewood, Colo., served as retreat master.

The debate team of Pius will be attending an invitational debate meet at Heelan High School of Sioux City, Iowa this Saturday. Those debaters participating are Kathy Glynn, Nona Rogers, Mike Laughlin, Cheryl McQuillen, Glennon Hays, and Joe Schroer. Larry Rogers, a member of the debate team at Pius last year and now attending the University of Nebraska, will act as a judge. Sister Mary St. Julian, debate instructor, will accompany the debaters to Iowa.

The Juniors and Sophomores of Pius took the Iowa Tests of Educational Development. This testing process helps in the choice of the right career, and shows the comparison with the rest of the students of the United States.

Dear Abby—
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband hasn't used my first name for 13 years. He calls me "Mama." He's a good provider, a good father to the children, doesn't drink or go out on me, but this one fault is getting me down. He calls me "Mama" all the time. Even in front of company. I feel more like a mother to him than a wife. I've tried to tell him, but it doesn't help. Please let me know how I can handle this, as it is beginning to affect our marriage.

"MAMA"

DEAR "MAMA": It's easier to change your attitude than to change your husband's habits. There's nothing wrong with being called "Mama." It's a "title' that outranks Darling, Sweetheart . . . or even your first name. Its his way of telling you what a wonderful "Mama" you are to his children. Enjoy it, and call him "Daddy."

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: For a 16-year-old girl this is going to sound pretty stupid, but here's my problem. I had a girlfriend sleep over, and just for the fun of it I started to make a list of all the boys I necked with. I went way back to when I was 13 and included everybody, even the guys I kissed only in games. (I almost ran out of paper.) Well, we laughed and joked about it, but here's the part that worries me. She took the list home with her and I am afraid she is going to show it around. I asked her for it, and she said she didn't have it any more. I think she's keeping it. How can I get it back?

ALL IN FUN BUT WORRIED

DEAR ALL: Forget it. It's ancient history. But don't make that mistake again. What was, was!

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Please do a humane service and put something in your column about these inconsiderate women who perfume themselves up so heavily that everyone in the office practically chokes when they come in. I want to cut it out and post it on our bulletin board.

CAN'T BREATHE ANY MORE

DEAR CAN'T BREATHE: Here it is. Get the scissors and cut it out, and let's hope the heavily perfumed coworker will also cut it out.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I hope someone who has had experience with a problem like ours can tell us if we are out of line or not. Our daughter is 19 and is out of high school and living at home. She is employed full time and is earning over $200.00 a month. Our disagreement comes when we ask her to give us $10 a week toward living expenses. She sleeps and eats at home. I do her laundry and never ask her to help in the house. Are we asking too much? We have four younger children and could use the money. She says nobody else does it.

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: The amount you are asking for seems reasonable enough to me. If your daughter tried to rent an apartment and stock her refrigerator and get her laundry done on ten dollars a week, she'd soon find out that she's getting a pretty good deal.

ASK—
Dorothy Draper

Some parties are so dull and stilted and some are such fun. I was invited to a birthday party in the country this summer that was of the "fun" variety. In the first place, you could tell that the people who had planned it had a good time preparing for it.

It was given in a little red house with white trim that stood at the end of a short street or lane. As we drove up, the first thing we saw was fifteen beautiful balloons tied to the lamp post. Then we were ushered through a white gate into a garden alive with flares posted at strategic positions around the grounds.

An opened Japanese umbrella lent a festive air and they had painted a branch white and had tied balloons of all shapes, colors and sizes to their "balloon bush." Over the old well roof was draped a white and red striped bedspread with red fringe looped up with white tassels to look like a gay canopy. Under this hung an antique lantern and on the boards over the old well, drinks were served.

We danced to a record player and had such a good time, but I am sure it was the inexpensive idea of the balloons that had set the mood for the party. Try it sometime!

Mrs. E. K. asks:

"My problem is Drabness Supreme! I have an L shaped Living-dining room arrangement. A large rose brick wall fireplace on the short leg of the L dominates the living room. The floor is covered wall to wall with nylon plush carpet in a color called nutria. Walls are antique white; piano, black; and other furniture of various brown. I want to buy a new sofa. What shall I get to help me out of this dreary dilemma?

Dear Mrs. E. K.:

Why not get one of the new bright purples for your sofa and cover the seat of the small occasional chairs in the same purple? Or use one of the new deep multi-colored prints on your sofa with vivid toss pillows for a bright wink of color.

M. E. S. asks:

"I have a fairly large living room but it is hard to arrange. I would like to dispose of my divan and chair and get a "sleep-chair" and can't think of any friend who hasn't a divan. Are they so essential?"

Dear M. E. S.:

In a way, yes. A sofa breaks up the all-chair look of a room, besides creating seating space for three people. I think you would be making a mistake. Better hang on to the sofa and chair and figure out a new arrangement. You can do it!

QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♦	Pass

What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠84 ♥J7 ♦A52 ♣AQJ943
2. ♠QJ ♥AQ10 ♦K7 ♣KJ9652
3. ♠J6 ♥KJ5 ♦943 ♣AKJ76
4. ♠QJ2 ♥84 ♦AK ♣KQ8654

1. Three clubs. Each mention of a new suit by the responder consitutes a forcing bid. Since we are therefore obligated to bid over two diamonds, the only question is what to bid.

Three clubs stands out as the proper rebid. By bidding one, two, and three clubs, we make it clear that the opening bid was in the minimum class and that we are also unenthusiastic about North's suits. If partner chooses to go on in the face of our signoff bids, he does so on his own responsibility.

2. Three notrump. One important principle of bidding is that if you underbid at one point, you try to correct it later by making a strength-showing bid. In the same way, if you make an early overbid, you later bid weakly to try to correct the previous overbid.

In this hand, the rebid of two clubs understated our actual values. Hence, when partner says two diamonds, we want to avoid making any bid that would sound as though we were responding only under the compulsion of a forcing bid.

A two notrump or three club rebid in this sequence would both sound weak. The jump to three notrump compensates for the previous underbid, especially since the hand is so well suited to notrump play.

3. Two notrump. Patner may be angling for game in notrump, and the reason for his failure to bid notrump himself may be that he lacks heart strength. In any case, regardless of what partner's purpose is in forcing us to bid again, there is no real choice but to say two notrump.

As indicated previously, this is not a strong bid. It merely shows that we do not favor either of his suits and that we have values in hearts which make a notrump contract feasible.

4. Three spades. Having bid only two clubs on the preceding round, we are obligated to show that our hand is better than was previously indicated. If we were simply to bid two spades, it would sound as though we had started with a minimum opening that included neutral spade support.

Such a hand, for example, would be one where we had a low diamond instead of the king. The excess value is shown by making a jump preference to three spades.

CANVASSING BOARD MEETS TO STRAIGHTEN OUT CPPD ELECTION

The State Canvassing Board met in a special session Thursday to straighten out who won the race for director of Consumers Public Power District in the Fifth District.

The board finally certified Harold Boehner of York as winner over John Brogan of York who had been previously declared the winner Monday following the official canvass of the vote by the board. Brogan had been announced winner by a 547 vote margin.

The final vote, as announced Thursday morning by the board, listed Boehner with 7,834 votes compared to 7,827 for Brogan.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said he was notified Tuesday that the totals submitted by Hamilton County Clerk Edwin R. Wall had been reversed.

The official vote summary in Hamilton County had given Brogan 1,135 votes and 858 votes to Boehner. The vote should have been 1,135 for Boehner and 858 for Brogan.

Correction of the Hamilton mistake gave Boehner the 7-vote victory.

Consumers' Fifth District includes 10 counties.

Marsh said the official certificates of election are still being prepared and none have been sent out yet.

Brogan said he would file a contest on the election. He has until Dec. 8 to file.

The board also corrected a minor mistake of Douglas County election commissioner Sam Cooper in submitting the votes cast for Thomas Bonner in the Second Congressional District.

Cooper submitted Bonner's 4,315 write-in votes under the heading "U.S. Senator" instead of "Congressman 2nd District."

Marsh said the outcome of the election wasn't changed by this correction.

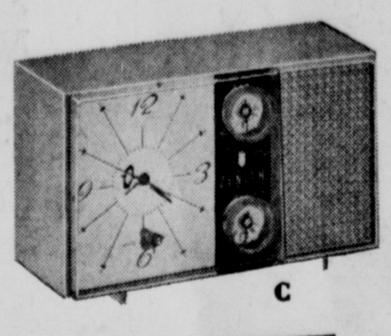

Republican Glenn Cunningham of Omaha defeated Democrat Joseph Benesch for the Congressional seat in the Second District. Benesch is also from Omaha.

LT. GOVERNOR'S SALARY NOT AFFECTED BY SPECIAL SESSION

Gov. Dwight Burnery will have no personal salary stake in the forthcoming special session of the Nebraska Legislature, inquiries established Thursday.

By proclamation of Burney, business of the special session will be limited to action on the salary of legislators.

A separate section of law covers pay of the lieutenant governor, the position to which Burney will revert when his present interim term as governor ends with the inauguration of Frank B. Morrison as governor Jan. 5.

For many years Nebraska paid its lieutenant governor $1,744 a year, precisely double the pay of a state senator. But the 1959 Legislature boosted the lieutenant governor's pay to $3,000 a year, effective July 1, 1959. The same Legislature, incidentally, increased the governor's salary from $11,000 to $14,000 a year.

Since taking the oath of governor following the death of Gov. Ralph G. Brooks in September, Burney has been drawing the salary of a governor.

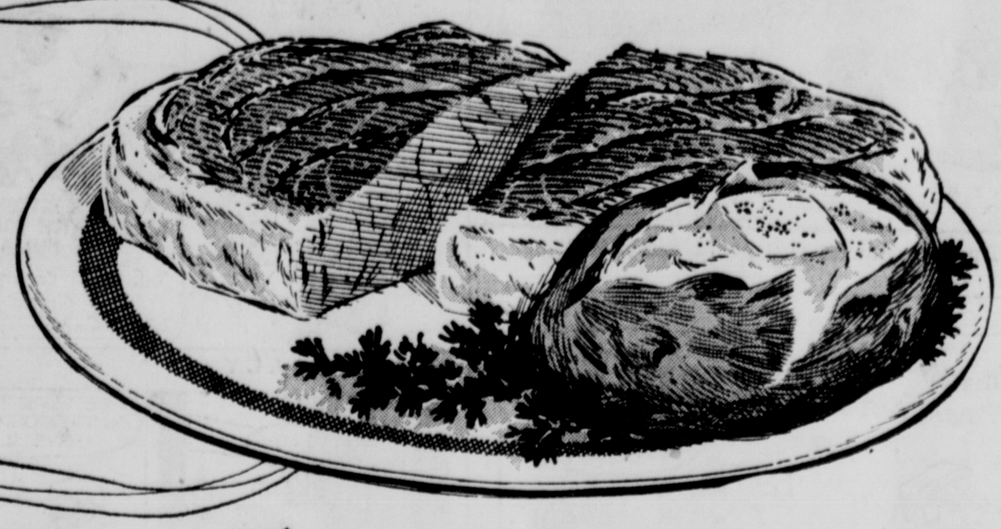

The special legislative session starting Dec. 12 was called to take advantage of a constitutional amendment approved by Nebraska voters Nov. 8, authorizing payment of up to $200 a month to legislators, who have been receiving $872 a year.

The special session wil permit the higher salaries to take effect in 1961. Without the special session, the pay hikes probably could not legally be made effective until 1963, Burney was advised.

Kowalke Pulls NU To Victory

. . . HITS 22 POINTS

By Bob McCoy

Dependable Jim Kowalke bailed out struggling Nebraska Thursday night as the Cornhuskers opened the 1960-61 basketball season with a 78-68 triumph over Iowa State Teachers

Kowalke rammed in 22 points, collected 15 rebounds and held the erratic Huskers together as Teachers pressed close in both halves.

Nebraska, hot, cold and well favored in its debut, had several sizeable leads on the Tutors, but wasn't able to make one stick.

When the Tutors got within range—mainly through the deadeye shooting of hawk-nosed Bob Waller—the Huskers did have Kowalke.

Pulls Through

Hawk-nose No. 2 pulled the Huskers through.

Nebraska ran a 20-7 margin on the Tutors in the first 10 minutes, then cooled as the Panthers rallied behind Waller for their only lead.

Bill Noonkesser's delivery from the side with 6:22 left in the first half put Teachers ahead 22-21. Then Nebraska's Al Buuck and Bill Bowers got baskets and Kowalke forced a charging foul on Waller and got two free throws.

This left NU on top 27-22 and the Huskers raced to a 37-26 halftime lead.

Big Leads

Nebraska built 13 and 12-point leads early in the second half and the Tutors pulled up once more.

Kowalke's 6 baskets — he got 13 of his 22 points during the final half—held the Panthers off again.

The Iowans strongest surge came when Waller, Jim Jackson and Pete Spoden hauled the Tutors from 11 points back to a 68-66 deficit with 3 minutes to go.

NU Tightens

Then Nebraska tightened up, slowing down play for 3 layin baskets—by Tommy Russell, Rex Swett and Jan Wall—to ice the decision.

Waller's jump shot with 1:20 to go was all the Tutors could muster in the stretch.

Waller, a substitute guard, finished with 21 points, hitting 10 of 19 from the field. Spoden's hook shot netted him 15 and Jackson had 13 points.

Swett was second to Kowalke in the NU point column with 12 while Russell and Al Roots had 11.

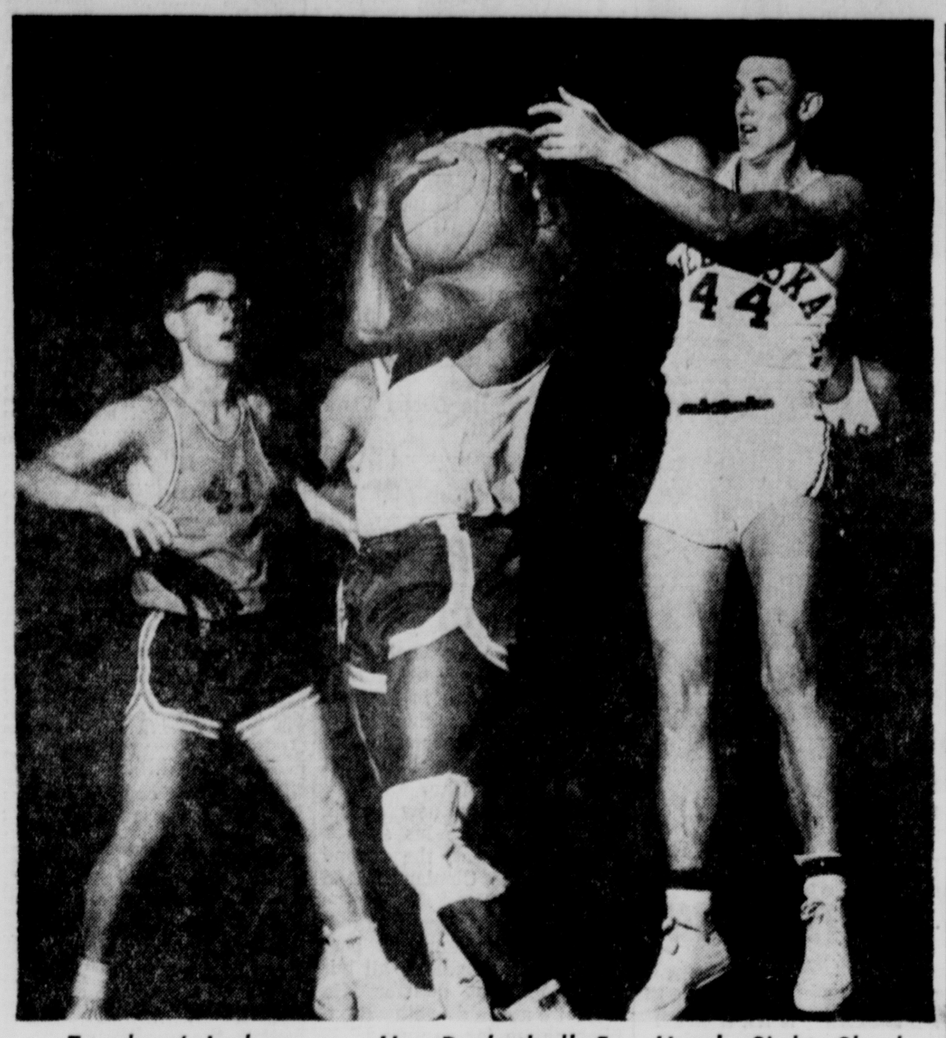

Hit 40%

Both clubs hit 40% and 29 field goals, but Nebraska's 20-27 at the free throw line was the decider.

Next contest for coach Jerry Bush's NU club comes Saturday night against Wichita U. at the Coliseum.

Shockers Open With 70-63 Win

Laramie, Wyo. (AP)—Wichita's towering Wheatshockers pulled away from a one-point edge in the final 5 minutes Thursday night and dealt Wyoming a 70-63 defeat in the teams' basketball opener.

The loss was the 9th in a row over a span of two campaigns for the Cowboys, who won only 5 games last season.

Wichita, leading throughout the second half, saw their 11-point bulge trimmed to one at 62-61 when Wyoming's Curt Jimerson stole the ball and drove the length of the court for a layup with 5:10 left in the game.

Then Wichita scored 6 straight points on 4 free throws and Virgil Brady's layup to put down the rally.

Wichita led 32-30 at the intermission.

Lanny Van Eman and 6-6 Ron Heller teamed to lead Wichita with 18 and 17 points.

NU WRESTLERS OPEN IN IOWA

Nebraska's wrestling team will be at Cedar Falls, Iowa, Saturday for a tune-up meet before the new season gets into full swing.

Coach Mickey Sparano named a 21-man squad to compete in the Iowa State Teachers College Invitational. The Husker entries will be competing against wrestlers from power-laden teams such as Iowa State, Cornell College, Mankato, Iowa U., Minnesota, Wartburg, and Iowa Teachers.

Sparano said he expects varsity grapplers Mike Nissen (123), Harold Thompson (157), heavyweight Jim Raschke, Bert Peterson (137), and Dick Van Sickle (130) to do well in this pre-season test in which freshmen can also compete. No team points are scored in this meet.

Raschke, Nissen and Thompson are Cornhusker tri-captains.

Nebraska will open the season Dec. 10 against Kansas State here.

South Dakota U Whacks Hastings

Vermillion, S.D. (UPI) — South Dakota University swept to an easy 82-50 victory over Hastings College Thursday night in season openers for both clubs.

Talmadge Milan led the winners with 17 points while freshmen Warren Bjorkland and Walt Hamlett were Hasting's best with 13 and 12 points respectively.

. . . SEMIN'S HURT HURTS

Lincoln Star Special

Jefferson City, Mo. —A sporadic Nebraska Wesleyan basketball squad fell to powerful Lincoln University in its opener Thursday night, 71-61.

The Plainsmen suffered when Dennis Semin, 6-5 sharpshooter, sprained his ankle with two minutes left in the game.

Coach Irv Peterson's charges were trailing by just 3 points when Semin had to be removed. Peterson said that the injury was painful but slight and that the senior center would be in action tonight against Missouri Concordia.

Lincoln, with most of its players back from last year's national small college runnerup, hit 47.5 per cent of its shots, while Wesleyan was managing a cold 34.9 per cent.

Jim Munford led the scoring in the game with 22 points, Semin had 16 before he retired in the last period.

Lincoln used its good overall height advantage and balanced attack to overcome a late Wesleyan rally that brought the Plainsmen from an 11-point halftime deficit to within 3 points.

Tonight's foe, Missouri Concordia of St. Louis, has had a jump on the Plainsmen. The Preachers have won 3 and lost one.

Four Preacher starters have been averaging in double figures in the first 4 contests. Tom Faszholz is leading with a 24-point per game average.

Air Force, Hurricanes To Battle

Miami, Fla. (AP) — A high-scoring football game is in prospect in the Orange Bowl tonight when the Air Force Academy meets the University of Miami Hurricanes for the first time.

Miami's Coach Andy Gustafson said Richie Mayo, a sharp quarterback, is one of the best passers ever to go against his Hurricanes. Gustafson pointed out that Mayo has completed 308 passes during his college career and will be out to boost it in his first Miami appearance.

Gustafson also rates Mike Quinlan, the Falcons' leading scorer for the last two years, next to Syracuse's Ernie Davis as a runner.

To capitalize on their speed, Gustafson plans to start Ted Sauselle at left half and Charlie Yanda at right. The 190-pound Nick Ryder and 193-pound Jim Voilenweider will also be available for halfback duty.

NARED'S SHOT LIFTS WHITES

John Nared's hook shot at the final buzzer gave the Whites a 65-63 victory over the Reds in a freshman intra-squad game preceding the NU-Iowa Teachers game Thursday night.

Nared's delivery erased a sparkling show by 6-8 Bill Vincent of the Reds, who recovered from a slow start to pot 28 points. Nared finished with 19.

—PASS COLLEGE RECRUIT RULE—

Minors Legislate Tentative Rules

. . . All Confused Until Majors Settle

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — The troubled minor leagues set up the machinery Thursday for working with the new major league baseball teams, whoever they may be, and then scattered in confusion.

With franchises, working agreements and player personnel still awaiting the outcome of the majors' squabble over expansion, the minors can do little but sit and wait.

Until the majors take a firm stand on their own plans for 1961, the minors are restricted to tentative measures. They don't know which hole they will have to plug first.

A college rule was passed which would ban signing and tryouts of college athletes, except during the summer vacation period. Like almost all of the minors' other decisions, this is subject to approval by the majors at their joint meeting Dec. 7 in St. Louis.

The colleges and organized ball long have been feuding over the signing of boys off the campus while still eligible for inter-collegiate sports. Despite its obvious limitations, the rule was considered the first step to a more solid "hands off" agreement.

George Trautman, president of the National Association (minors) commented, "This took a long while. I think it represents great progress in the right direction."

The draft of all players after their first year in pro ball, unless they have been moved to a big league roster, was extended one more year. Attempts by the Baltimore organization to put more teeth into the rule were defeated.

The monors agreed to enter into working agreements with new major league teams in the year immediately preceding their actual operation, once the big league team has acquired its territory, been granted membership in a league and certified by commissioner Ford Frick. Trautman said this action could save 4 or 5 minors.

The new Washington club, for example, now can have working agreements if the majors also pass this amendment. However, such teams as Houston, New York and Los Angeles would first have to clear their territory.

The current problem of settling damages between the new Minnesota Twins and the American Association for its St. Paul and Minneapolis franchises, prompted another amendment. In the future such disputes must be settled by Nov. 30 or go automatically to a 7-man arbitration committee. The rule is not retroactive, according to Trautman, and would not apply in the present situation in which Calvin Griffith of the Minnesota team and the AA directors still are locked. The AA rejected Griffith's latest proposal of $200,000 but left the door open. It is asking $1,600,000.

Year after year the minors usually pass legislation calling for restriction on major league radio and TV broadcasts into their territory. The majors always turn them down. This year the minors didn't even pass it. The TV amendment lost by a 17-5 vote. In fact, the minors failed to pass an amendment that would have allocated World Series tickets to its clubs and leagues.

An attempt to advance the deadline on which big league clubs can recall players from their minor league farms from July 31 to either May 15 or July 1 was defeated. The same July 31 deadline remains in effect.

A total of 19 amendments were passed, 15 were defeated and two were withdrawn. Most of them were of a technical nature involving obscure baseball rules.

Most of the big leaguers already had moved on to St. Louis for next week's meetings or gone home for the weekend.

3-I Cuts Schedule For 1961

. . . 130 GAMES

Lincoln Star Special

Louisville, Ky.—April 25 is the opening date set by the Three-I League for a 130-game schedule in 1961.

The schedule, cut from 1960, calls for the season to end Sept. 4 without playoffs or an all-star game.

Last year the league played 140 games with 8 teams. There are just 6 teams set for 1961.

The 1961 schedule has no scheduled double-headers and 3 open dates for each team. Each team will make 4 trips to each of the other cities.

There were continuing rumors that the American Association might draft Des Moines to fill one of its vacancies.

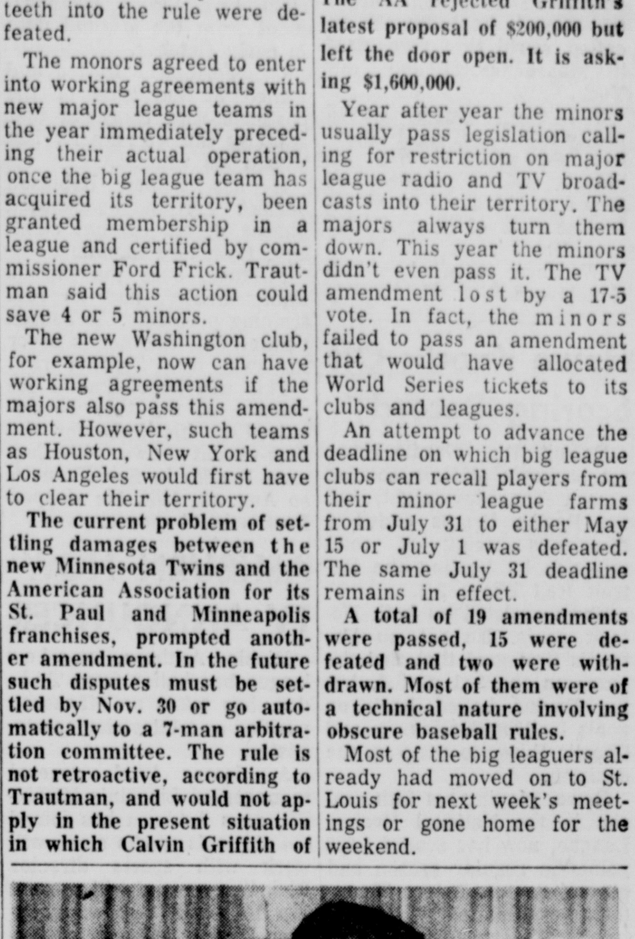

However, the Association hasn't made public its plans, awaiting a final settlement with the American League on the Minneapolis-St. Paul territory.

Three-I officials are not panicked over possible loss of Des Moines.

Should this happen, the Three-I could quickly draft the Davenport territory from the Midwest League.

The minor league convention wound up here Thursday morning with final voting on proposed amendments to the constitution.

All approved legislation must go before the major league directors at their convention in St. Louis next week.

ALL-AMERICA BIRTHDAY

George Asleson, Iowa State Teachers College guard, was honored Wednesday by being named to the 1960 Associated Press Little All-America football team. Thursday his wife, Ann, presented him with an All-America cake on his 26th birthday. Asleson, a senior from Charles City, Ia., is an Air Force veteran who plans to coach after graduation.

Majors 'Summit Meet' Ends

. . . MOGULS TO PROPOSE AMENDMENTS

New York (AP) — Baseball's 3 top officials, after nearly 9 hours of conferences, drafted several amendments Thursday they hope will help unify the major leagues in their rapidly-developing expansion programs.

"The two-day meeting is concluded," Commissioner Ford Frick's office announced early Thursday afternoon after a 2½-hour second session among Frick, National League President Warren Giles, American League President Joe Cronin and their attorneys. "Several amendments to rule 1 have been prepared for presentation to the 16 clubs at the meeting in St. Louis".

None of the 3 had any further comment.

The two leagues will consider the amendments, aimed at clearing the way for AL expansion to 10 teams next year and the NL to 10 teams in 1962, at separate meetings opening the winter meetings in St. Louis Monday. If approved, the amendment or amendments will go on to further consideration at a joint meeting Wednesday.

While the American League has shifted the old Washington franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul and created a new Washington franchise, and the Nationals plan to go into Houston in 1962, Rule 1 currently stands in the way of the AL move to Los Angeles next year and the NL return to New York in 1962.

It reads, in effect, that unanimous approval of all major league clubs is required when one league wants to establish a team in a city now occupied by a team from the other league.

Los Angeles, of course, is occupied by the Dodgers and owner Walter O'Malley has led the fight to keep the American League out until the Dodgers' new park is built in Chavez Ravine.

Conversely, there has been talk that if the National League fails to go along with the American League expansion to Los Angeles, the American League would not look favorably upon the National League plans in New York in 1962.

It was in hopes of coming up with an amendment that would be acceptable to both leagues and one on which future expansion plans could be built that Frick called the so-called "summit meeting."

Prep Basketball Opens In Full Force Tonight

. . . Tutors, Southeast, Lincoln High Favored

By Al Beebe

Basketball moves onto the state prep scene in full force tonight, with most of the state's teams in action for the first time. It promises to be an interesting year, but there are plenty of questions to be answered as to who has what.

The answers start coming tonight.

Four Lincoln teams open this weekend, with only Pius X waiting another week.

Shooting in the dark:

Geneva at University High —Tutors play the only home game tonight. Geneva hit hard by graduation, and Uni should start successfully.

Lincoln Northeast at Kearney — Rockets help dedicate Kearney's spanking-new gym. That incentive, plus several good veterans, gives an edge to Kearney.

Lincoln Southeast at Beatrice—Both clubs riddled by graduation, but SE has Jack Cramer and should get by.

CB Abraham Lincoln at Lincoln High (Saturday) — Iowa team is expected to be tough, perhaps too tough. But I'll pick Links to open right.

Northeast at North Platte (Saturday) — Platters another team which may be strong this year, but I'll say Rockets will split for the weekend by winning.

Others tonight:

Omaha South at Creighton Prep, Omaha Benson at Omaha Tech, North Platte at Sidney, Albion at Norfolk, Weeping Water at Ashland, York at Columbus, Seward at Seward Concordia, Cozad at Ogallala, David City at Wahoo, Fremont at McCook, Hastings at Omaha Westside.

Saturday — Columbus at Central City, Wahoo at Crete, Seward at Falls City, Ogallala at Scottsbluff.

Alibis Out For Sugar

. . . IF WHIPPED BY FULLMER

Los Angeles, (AP) — There will be no alibis from Sugar Ray Robinson if champion Gene Fullmer whips him in their 15-round fight for the National Boxing Association version of the world middleweight title.

"We will have no excuses," declared Robinson's manager, George Gainsford, Thursday as Fullmer, from West Jordan, Utah, remained a 3-1 betting favorite in the nationally televised match Saturday night.

"Robinson trained harder in the last week than he did the entire time for the fight with Paul Pender," big George continued.

Pender, of Boston, twice outpointed Robinson earlier this year in bouts for the so-called world title recognized in Massachusetts and New York.

The two fighters stayed pretty well out of sight Thursday, 29-year-old Gene at his hideout in Los Angeles and 39-year-old Sugar Ray at his retreat east of here at Gilman Hot Springs.

'We are satisfied with Gene's condition. He's ready and there has been no recurrence of the muscle injury in his leg," said manager Marv Jensen.

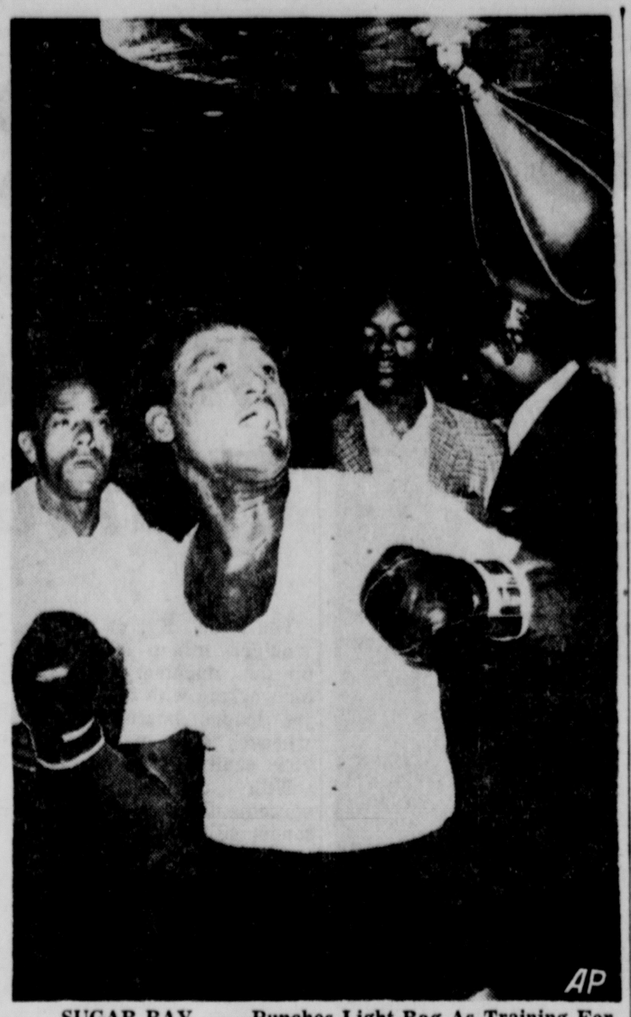

A pulled muscle in the right leg forced postponement from the original date in early October.

Gainsford, who fretted and wailed at the time of the postponement, conceded that actually the setback has helped his veteran.

It has helped Robinson perfect certain undisclosed phases of his combat strategy, Gainsford explained.

Fullmer, once the muscle injury healed, had no real training problems. As Jensen pointed out, Fullmer is never far away from fighting trim.

This will be Fullmer's 4th defense of the title he acquired in his fight for the then-vacant crown with Carmen Basilio in San Francisco Aug. 28, 1959. He stopped Basilio in 14 rounds.

Howe Knocks Off Scoring Record

Detroit (AP) —Gordie Howe set hockey's all-time scoring record Thursday night, but the Boston Bruins ended a disastrous string of road miseries by beating the Detroit Red Wings 3-2.

Howe assisted on both Detroit goals. He set up Detroit's first goal that tied the game in the 3rd period, but the Bruins bolted back on goals by Don McKenney and Charlie Burns to wrap up the decision.

Howe, playing his 15th season in the National Hockey League, now has scored 1,093 points in regular season and playoff games. Before Thursday, he was tied with Montreal's Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, who held the mark for many years.

ASHBURN NOW TV ANNOUNCER

Richie Ashburn, major league baseballer from Tilden, has taken an off-season position as a television sportscaster.

A. James Ebel, general manager of Lincoln's KOLN-TV, says Ashburn has joined the station's sports staff, will work with sports director Rick Weaver and will present two daily sports shows whenever Weaver is covering Nebraska's out-of-town basketball games.

Victorian Tennis Final Is All-American Affair

Melbourne, (AP) — Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio, and Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis meet today in the first All-American singles final of the Victorian tennis championships and the match may be just the tonic needed to send the Yankees hurdling over the Davis Cup barriers.

"Our interzone match with Italy next week in Perth should be very close," David Freed, U.S. Davis Cup captain said. "This tough match play experience for Barry and Butch may be just what we need to get us over the hump.

"The Italians haven't had such a toughening except in the doubles. In a 3-2 decision, which I think is very likely, this easily could be the determining factor."

MacKay smashed into the finals by beating Mike Sangster, a promising British youngster, 6-4, 10-8, 12-10 Thursday. Buchholz beat his old schoolboy rival from St. Louis, Chuck McKinley, 3-6, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4 in a bristling battle which had the Kooyong Club gallery buzzing with excitement.

The two Americans, who will face the Italians at Perth next weekend, clash Saturday for the title last won by an American in 1952 when Vic Seixas triumphed.

In the doubles, also Saturday, Australia's Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson face Italians Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola.

Freed was delighted over the advance of his two singles stars but was particularly pleased over the performances of Buchholz and McKinley.

"This was one of the finest matches I have ever seen," the Salt Lake City financier said.

Midlandmen Overwhelm Omaha 83-54

Lincoln Star Special

Fremont—Midland College, behind the stalwart performances of transfer LeRoy Hulsebus and veteran Denny Groves, pounded out an 83-54 win over Omaha University in the basketball opener for both schools Thursday night.

Hulsebus, a 6-7 transfer from Wyoming U., poured in 28 points, and Groves, the Warriors' leading scorer last year, added 23.

The Warriors swept the boards against the youthful Indians, who have an all-underclassmen team including several freshmen.

Midland hosts Buena Vista College tonight.

Omaha	24-30—54
Midland	39-44—83

Winners high—LeRoy Hulsebus, 28. Losers high—Joe Neuberger, 16.

Cincy Rolls Without 'O'

Cincinnati (AP)—Cincinnati's Bearcats opened their first basketball season in 3 years Thursday night without scoring ace Oscar Robertson, but kept on winning big—90-51 over Indiana State.

The Bearcat's new coach, Ed Jucker, gave his subs a workout most of the second half, but the Cincinnati lead still widened.

Paul Hogue, 6-feet-9 standout, was the Bearcats' best scorer with 23 points, all but 6 in the first quarter. He also teamed with Bob Wiesenhahn for capture of 33 rebounds.

Phils Sign Vincent

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies Thursday signed Al Vincent as a coach. He replaces Andy Cohen, released at the end of the 1960 season. Vincent managed the Miami Marlins in the International League last year.

Buckeyes Pick Up From Last Season

. . . Lucas Paces 85-64 Win

Athens, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's Buckeyes, defending National basketball champions, took up Thursday night where they left off last March as they swept past the scrappy Ohio University Bobcats 85-64 in the opener for both teams.

Led by All-America Jerry Lucas, the Buckeyes scored the first 3 baskets in the game and were never behind.

Lucas, 6-foot-8 junior, scored 29 points and set up countless other baskets. He scored 16 points in the first half, added 13 in the second and sat out the last 2½ minutes.

Lucas set the Ohio State pace in the opening minutes, tallying 5 baskets, while his teammates added 4 more, to send the hot-shooting Buckeyes into a big lead.

By halftime, Ohio State had built up a 40-26 lead. The Bucks tallied on 53 per cent of their shots in the first 20 minutes while the shorter Bobcats could hit on only 29 per cent.

Bunk Adams, a 6-2 Ohio U. senior, led Bobcat scoring with 18 points.

In the second half, Ohio State continued its assault but Coach Fred Taylor had to keep his regulars in the lineup until the closing minutes because the fired-up Bobcats repeatedly cut the Buckeye lead.

Ohio State hit on 47.2 per cent of its shots from the field and the Bobcats 32.9 per cent.

Lucas made 11 of 19 from the field and picked off 20 rebounds.

The Buckeyes cleared the boards 52 times while Ohio U. grabbed the ball only 38.

Bradley Nips Gophers

Minneapolis (AP) — Heavily favored Bradley squandered an 18-point lead Thursday night but rallied grimly in the final minutes behind 6-6 Chuck Walker to beat Minnesota 62-58 in the teams' basketball opener.

With 65 seconds left, Mack Herndon fired a 20-foot jump shot to send Bradley into a 60-58 lead and Herndon and Walker finished off with two free throws.

Iowa In Squeaker

Iowa City, Iowa (AP)—Iowa squeezed out a 77-75 victory over South Dakota State in their non-conference basketball opener Thursday night but needed a second half surge to do it.

The North Central Conference champion Jackrabbits, unawed by a new Hawkeye break-away offense with a double post attack, dominated the first half and led 42-38 at the intermission, largely through the efforts of top scorer Don Jacobsen with 22 points.

Badgers Rapped

Indianapolis (AP) —The Butler Bulldogs gave away some height but outran, outshot and outrebounded Wisconsin for a 73-58 victory in the basketball opener for both teams Thursday night.

Butler broke the game open early in the second half by hitting 7 of 9 shots and moving from a 4-point lead at 40-36 to a 14-point spread at 52-38. Don Wilson hit 3 straight in that splurge.

Wildcats By One

Evanston, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern went ahead to stay with 6½ minutes to play on sophomore John Miller's free throw and edged western Michigan 73-72 Thursday night in a season-opening basketball game.

Medicine Creek Residents Ask For Their Own Money

Cambridge (UPI) — Residents of the Medicine Creek area are not asking the State Game Commission to spend more Game Commission funds on their lake, Cambridge editor C. Don Harpst said Thursday.

"We're complaining about them expropriating our lake's money for other lakes instead of spending it back where it came from," he said.

Or, he added, the state could return it to the county in lieu of taxes which have been deprived Frontier County by the lake.

Harpst, a member of the lakes committee of the Republican Valley Conservation Assn., quoted from figures given the association in a 167-page report submitted by the Game Commission.

Harpst said that since 1952, the Medicine Creek Lake had produced income of $85,542. He said Enders and Swanson Lakes had produced incomes totaling $60,548.

The Game Commission report, he said, showed that a total of $152,629 was spent on the 3 lakes between 1952 and 1959. Assuming that this money was apportioned equally, the report indicates that Medicine Creek Lake produced $34,667 more than was spent on it, Harpst said.

Harpst said that his newspaper takes the stand that it is unfair to take revenue from marginal lands to apply on lakes in other counties where so many acres of land have been taken from the tax rolls of a county like Frontier.

"We believe a provision should be made that money in lieu of taxes be paid from lake income to give to Frontier County for loss of tax revenue.

"Residents of this area don't mind helping out other reservoirs whose income is less," he said, "but they do believe that the difference of $34,667 which Medicine Creek donated to the other reservoirs during the 1952-1959 period was a little more than should be expected from Frontier County alone."

"Especially do we believe that this is more than one county's share, in view of the fact that the State Game Commission threw in only $6,539 of its own," he said. He said that amount was only 1-5th that contributed by Frontier County.

Medicine Creek Lake, he said, takes 9,207 acres from the tax rolls of Frontier County.

Big Town's Bowl Lost This Year

New York (AP)—The Gotham Bowl, a widely-ballyhooed vehicle that was supposed to help return big-time college football to the big town, was canceled Thursday at least for this year.

Plans for the Dec. 10 bowl at Yankee Stadium, darkened by Syracuse's announced unavailability two weeks ago and shaken by Holy Cross' refusal Wednesday night, finally collapsed when bowl director Bob Ready made one of the last of hundreds of phone calls and said, in effect:

Maybe next year.

Only a few minutes before Ready announced that the bowl game would not be played, Oregon State—the one team he had managed to get an acceptance from—dispatched a telegram to bowl headquarters disclosing its "regretful withdrawal."

"With the benefit of our experience in this novel venture," Ready said, "we hope to present a game of championship quality in December of 1961."

He said "Every effort was expended and every contact utilized to secure a major attraction." This failing, he added, the committee had "regretfully decided to postpone New York's first scheduled bowl game" until next year.

ILLINI RIP CREIGHTON

Champaign, Ill. (AP) — Illinois, using 13 players in a double-unit substitution system, scored 53 points in the last half Thursday night and trimmed Creighton 99-74 in a basketball season opener.

The closest Creighton came to narrowing the gap was 60-53 in a spurt led by Santos Jimenez' 3 baskets. Tom Dowling on Creighton took scoring honors with 21 points, 13 in the last half and 8 in the final 10 minutes.

Four Illini scored in double figures, topped by sophomore Bob Starnes' 18 points. He touched off Illinois' fast start with 9 points in the opening 10 minutes.

Stars Galore On Hand At SAC Headquarters

Omaha (AP) — Strategic Air Command headquarters might almost have been described Thursday as a galaxy.

It boasted 104 stars.

Sec. Gates

The stars were those of an assortment of generals and admirals on hand for a conference of top U.S. military men including the civilian service secretaries.

Of the 104 stars, 75 belonged to visiting officers. The rest were on the shoulders of 16 generals and admirals permanently stationed at Offutt Air Force base.

The two day conference continues through Friday.

A VC-137A jet plane operated in shuttle service between Omaha and Washington as conference personnel gathered. The big transport brought the joint chiefs of staff to Omaha late Wednesday, returned to Washington and flew back to Omaha with Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Thursday.

The plane is a sister ship of the Boeing 707 airliner and the KC-135 tanker. It is one of 3 bought by the government for use by the president and other dignitaries.

The SAC underground is the workshop of the new strategic target planning staff of the joint chiefs of staff.

The military leaders will review the work of the team which has been putting together a new list of targets for nuclear weapons in the event of war.

The target staff, made up of representatives of all services, was given the job of producing a single list of targets for all U.S. atomic and hydrogen weapons regardless of the service to which they belong.

The new target list comes into being at a time when the Navy is floating its first submarines armed with Polaris missiles.

The new singe target catalogue is tailored for Polaris missiles as well as Strategic Air Command bombers, the Air Force Atlas ICBMs and carrier based nuclear strike planes.

The admirals and generals were greeted by newsmen and photographers as they arrived on the chilly Offutt ramp, but reporters were given no opportunity to talk to any of them.

Newsmen also had no opportunity to talk to Gates, though they were told he would make a statement at the end of the conference.

Not even military photographers were being permitted behind the closed doors where conferences were going on.

Stranded Motorists Find Western Hospitality Lives Up To Tradition

Arnold — Western hospitality reigned supreme during the state's first full scale blizzard of the season, according to grateful guests

Mrs. Alvie Christ of near Arnold said 27 unexpected guests spent Sunday and Monday in the 5-bedroom Arnold farm home due to the blizzard.

Some of the 15 guests who stayed overnight Monday slept on the floor, but woke up Tuesday morning to a breakfast of fried eggs and pancakes. All beds, davenports plus a rollaway bed and cot were pressed into service, Mrs. Christ said.

Over 3 dozen eggs were used Tuesday, the Arnold farm wife reported, and although they ran short of coffee, butter and milk no one went hungry.

"They were awfully good to help," she commented.

Farther west at Stapleton, 14 stranded motorists found their way to the farm home of Don Niesen, south of Stapleton and east of the junction of Highways 92 and 83.

Two of the victims were women who had spent Sunday night in their stalled car.

A man and his wife and their 5 children, caught by the storm when returning from a Thanksgiving holiday, had only two coats among the 5 children.

They were carried to the Niesen home from their stalled car and remained until contact was made with relatives in Arnold.

Jean McCartney Hearing Delayed

Fremont (AP) — A District Court preliminary hearing for Jean McCartney of Fremont of charges growing out of a Fremont shooting has been postponed to Dec. 9.

McCartney had been scheduled for a hearing Thursday on charges of shooting with intent to kill, shooting with intent to wound and assault with intent to do great bodily injury. The charges grew out of a wounding of Albert Nore, 51, Fremont farm manager. McCartney pleaded innocent.

A subsequent and unrelated charge of possession of gambling devices also has been filed against McCartney, following the finding of a slot machine at one of his farms. McCartney pleaded innocent to that charge and the hearing was scheduled to be held at the same time as hearings on the other charges.

Wind Flattens Uncompleted 4-H Building At Tryon

Tryon — One of the casualties of the howling blizzard to sweep western Nebraska this week was the uncompleted McPherson County Fair 4-H building, which collapsed in a heap of splintered beams and twisted siding.

The structure had been financed on a 50-50 basis with area residents chipping in $1,000 and Ak-Sar-Ben the rest. All labor had been volunteered.

The building, shaped like a Quonset hut, was not insured pending its completion, according to Leo Cash, treasurer of the McPherson County 4-H Club Council.

Farmer Enters Plea Of Guilty To Damaging Heinz' Combine

Alma (AP)— Alvin Eugene Jauken, Atlanta area farmer, was in jail here Thursday after pleading guilty in District Court to a charge of malicious destruction of property.

Jauken entered his plea and Judge Edmund Nuss deferred sentencing, pending an investigation.

Sheriff Wilbur Gewecke of Phelps County said Jauken was picked up Tuesday and eventually told this story:

On Nov. 6, he drove to a field where a combine owned by a neighbor, Max Heinz, was parked in the field. With a 16 gauge shotgun, Jauken shot holes in the gas tank and damaged one of the large drive wheels.

The following day Jauken fired shots at his own car, a 1959 model. Later he blamed hunters for the damage.

Gewecke and officers of the Nebraska Safety Patrol working on the case suspected that Jauken had intentionally fired at his own car, but were powerless to act until an insurance claim was filed. This was done Monday.

Sheriff Gewecke said there was no law governing a man's actions against his own property, but when attempting to file an insurance claim, it made it a case of fraud.

However, the sheriff said when Jauken admitted the act against the combine, the case was turned over to Harlan County authorities, since Heinz actually resides in that county.

Undercover Agent Gives Testimony

Omaha (AP) — A federal agent, described as an undercover narcotics agent, testified Thursday he and a companion paid a total of $1,800 to Anthony J. Biase in a series of buys of tablets alleged to contain narcotics.

Biase, 52, of Omaha, is on trial before a federal jury of 6 women and 6 men on charges of violating 8 counts of the Federal Narcotics Act.

The agent, who said he worked under the name of Joe Benedetto in Omaha for many weeks, said he first was introduced to Biase in an Omaha cafe by Kenneth Bruce Sheetz, 39, Kansas City.

Sheetz later was shot from ambush at his Kansas City home, but recovered from 4 bullet wounds. Sheetz testified before a federal grand jury here that indicted Biase previous to the shooting.

Benedetto said after his introduction to Biase in September of 1959, Sheetz was given a bottle containing 400 tablets. Biase, he testified, was paid $700 and agreed to deliver another 400 tablets that night.

In subsequent dealings, the agent said he was accompanied by Sheetz and paid $1,100 more for other tablets.

The trial of Biase opened here Wednesday.

'No Conflict' Between Game Dept., Resources Division, Steen Claims

State Game Commission Director M. O. Steen said Thursday there was no conflict between the commission and the State Resources Division in bringing income into the state.

At a hearing on the 1961-63 budget for the game commission, Governor Burney asked Steen if there wasn't a "conflict or crossover" between Steen's department and the resources division headed by David Osterhout.

Steen said the resources division was engaged in promotion of industry in the state whereas the game commission was trying to promote tourist trade.

"You might say theirs is a commerial enterprise and ours is recreational," Steen said.

The commission is asking for $282,500 for tourist promotion compared to $30,000 appropriated for that purpose by the 1959 Legislature.

Hour of Decision

"This is an hour of decision for Nebraska," Steen said. 'We should either get in or out of the tourist business."

He said the principle reason for the increase was to raise more money for the state which he said could be done "readily, easily and cheaply."

Steen repeated his belief that he could raise a half billion dollars in new money for the state in the next 10 years if he was given the additional money to work with.

Total budget for the commission is $6,552,800, a $1,350,000 increase over the present budget.

Burney, who again wondered where the money was coming from for these increases, found that Steen agreed with him on the need in Nebraska for a state sales tax.

Of the commission's total budget, $5,138,000 is expected to come from license fees for the game and fish fund.

The increase includes $110,000 for equipment for capital improvement; $150,000 for replacement of equipment; $162 000 for a new game farm at Sacramento, and $535,000 for land purchase and development projects consisting of the Salt-Wahoo project, access roads along the Missouri River and watershed districts in the state.

Steen said an estimated $1,100,850 will be needed from the .13 mill levy for the divisions of state park and tourist promotion.

Also included was an estimated $120,000 for the next two-year period from boating registration fees.

This money will be used to build boating ramps at Lake Ogalala and Lake McConaughy and for ramps and access roads at various points along the Missouri River.

Morton Says Fraud 'Shocking'

Washington (UPI) — GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton said Thursday there still was an outside chance that "shocking irregularities and fraud" in the Nov. 8 balloting could put Richard M. Nixon in the White House.

Morton conceded there was not "too much chance" of the vice president overturning Democrat John F. Kennedy's razor-thin presidential victory. But he said it was his duty as party chairman to expose any voting irregularities.

Morton, a Kentucky senator, made the statement at a news conference held to announce formation of a "national recount and Fair Elections Committee" which he will direct. He said the group will demand "an honest count of this election in every suspicious state."

Calls It A Disgrace

He added that reports submitted to him by GOP investigators left no question in his mind that "there have been shocking irregularities and frauds in this election which constitute a national disgrace."

Asked to name the states involved, Morton said he was sure Kennedy captured Illinois and its 27 electoral colleges vote as a result of ballot irregularities. He said "most of the fraud" occurred in Chicago.

The GOP chairman also mentioned Republican investigations in Missouri and Texas, in parts of Pennsylvania, Essex County, N.J; Clark County, Nev., and New Mexico.

Prof. Keiler Dies; Artist And Author

Manfred L. Keiler, 51, of 3515 Van Dorn, author, artist, and professor at the University of Nebraska, died Thursday of a heart ailment.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Wadlow's Chapel, Rabbi Abraham Rosenblum officiating.

Mr. Keiler

Before coming to the University of Nebraska art department in 1950, Prof. Keiler had taught school in North Platte High School for 3 years, and supervised the elementary teachers in the public schools system of the city. He also worked for the State Department and was chairman of the Art Study Committee in Lincoln.

Prof. Keiler, in his capacity as author had published "Art for Nebraska Elementary Children and Art in the Schoolroom." A second book, "The Art in Teaching Art," is to be published by the University of Nebraska Press next April.

German Native

Born in Berlin, Germany, he studied art in Weimar and Berlin, receiving his Master of Fine Arts degree from the Academy of Fine Arts in Weimar.

While studying in Vienna for several years, he also did some stage designing for the Vienna Opera. Later, while he taught in London, the professor designed costumes for British motion pictures.

Coming to America, he lived in New York, where he designed stage settings for several Broadway plays and then traveled to Hollywood for a year, doing color research.

His works have been exhibited throughout Europe as well as in New York City, Topeka, Kans., Kansas City, Mo., and in the Joslyn Museum in Omaha. Boston and Minneapolis are also among his listings.

Prof. Keiler is survived by his wife, Inge.

Jackson To Step Down

. . . Next Month

Washington (AP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington said Thursday he will resign his Democratic Party chairmanship at the time President-elect John F. Kennedy takes office next month.

Technically, the Democratic National Committee will name Jackson's successor. In practice, the President's wishes on the top party post are always respected, but Kennedy gave no immediate hint of his choice.

Jackson's announcement came after a 20-minute session with the president-elect.

Kennedy told reporters "we couldn't possibly have won" the Nov. 8 election without Jackson's leadership.

When Kennedy tapped him for the job at the Democratic convention, Lutheran Jackson became the first protestant to hold the party chairmanship in 32 years.

It remains to be seen whether the religious factor will influence Kennedy's decision on the coming selection.

If it does, it might rule out John Bailey, the Connecticut Democratic chairman who is known to have Kennedy's respect as a political party administrator. Bailey, a 56-year-old Catholic, was named head of the Connecticut Democrats in 1946.

Lincoln Plan Endorsed By UCW Council

Mrs. A. F. Daland, president of the Lincoln United Church Women, reported that the State UCW Council executive committee unanimously approved the Lincoln group's recommendation to send letters of regret to non-white delegations at the United Nations.

The Lincoln UCW suggestion, which it is hoped will be taken up by councils across the nation, came after non-white U.N. delegates received anonymous circulars threatening them because of their racial backgrounds.

In action at their Grand Island conference Thursday morning, the state UCW group voted to send the Lincoln council's recommendation to all of the state's councils, and to wire the national UCW headquarters urging nation-wide support of the plan.

Mrs. Daland explained that the Lincoln UCW members have already dispatched letters to non-white delegations at the U.N. expressing their regret for the anonymous threats received, and demonstrating that Americans in general do not agree with the anonymous handbill's sentiments.

The Lincoln Council of Churches at a meeting of the executive committee Thursday also endorsed the Lincoln UCW's policy and sent a telegram to the secretary general of the United Nations to convey to the African delegations the Council's "regret and shame for the disrespectful acts of persons not representative of American ideals."

The Rev. Carroll Lemon, who will represent the Nebraska Council of Churches at the National Council of Churches convention in San Francisco Dec. 4-9, said it is hoped that the national body will take some action on behalf of the churches of the nation.

Judges Named For Architects' Awards Program

Omaha (UPI)—An architect, an editor and a professor were named to serve as a 3-man panel of judges for the 1960 honor awards program for the Nebraska Architects Assn.

The program is designed to give recognition to outstanding work by Nebraska architects.

Clarence Kivett, Kansas City, Mo., is the architect on the panel. He will serve as chairman.

Kivett is a partner in the firm of Kivett and Meyers and McCallum and has been a member of the City Planning Commission of Kansas City for 9 years.

Emerson Goble, New York City, editor of the Architectural Record, is also on the panel. He is considered a specialist in building trends.

The 3rd judge is Leonard Wolf, a registered architect who has been head of the Department of Architecture at Iowa State University for 10 years.

Entries in the program may be on the basis of a single building or a related group of buildings forming a single project.

Each entry is judged solely on the basis on the architect's solution to the problem presented.

DRUGS, IN SOME CASES, CAN MAKE BLACK PEOPLE WHITE

Washington (UPI) — A Washington skin specialist produced evidence at the American Medical Association meeting Thursday that drugs in some cases can make black people white or white people black.

The specialist was Dr. Robert Stolar. He was accompanied by a white-skinned Negro woman, who did not identify herself but who said that under his treatment she has been white for 15 years.

Stolar said he has accomplished the same result in 16 cases.

Stolar stressed that he administers the treatment only to patients who have blotched skin such as cafe-au-lait spots or other "disturbances of pigmentation."

He said it has not so far proved possible to provide white skin for Negroes with no pigmentation disturbances. But he did not rule out this possibility for the future.

The technical name of the drug used in the treatment is "monobenzyl ether of hydroquinone." It is used in an ointment which is applied externally. Initially the application is daily; later it may taper off to once in 6 months.

K Putting Out Peace Feelers To The West

London (UPI)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has been putting out peace feelers with Western diplomats in Moscow aimed at making friends with the incoming administration of Sen. John F. Kennedy, authoritative sources said Thursday.

They were the first such "let's be friends" overtures since the U-2 plane incident. Significantly, they came in the midst of the Kremlin's ideological battle with communist China over Khrushchev's "peaceful co-existence" policy and Peiping's insistence on the inevitability of war.

The new, informal overtures brought fresh speculation that Khrushchev may make some public gesture toward the United States before long, possibly early in the new year.

Mrs. S. B. Crabb Dies In California

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Dorothy Crabb, wife of Santon B. Crabb, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Crabb of Lincoln.

Mrs. Crabb, 35, died in National City, Calif. Mr. Crabb, a 15-year veteran of the Navy, is on leave from the aircraft carrier Hornet.

Also surviving are three children, Janet, 12, Tommy, 9, and Sandy, 18 months.

The body will be sent to Hutchinson, Kans., where funeral services will be held at St. Teresa's Church with burial at Fairlawn Cemetery.

Parole, Resources Budget Hikes Favored By Burney

Gov. Dwight Burney Thursday said he may recommend budget increases be approved for the Resources Division and the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

The governor may also advocate a small budget to initiate a commission to prepare for the 1967 state centennial celebration.

An initial planning committee has already been named.

Burney will attempt to hold overall budget increases over the 1959-61 biennium to 10% or less.

"I'm taking each agency by itself," the governor noted.

Following current budget hearings, Burney recommends to State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson where cuts should be proposed.

"If, following the hearings, I find we haven't lopped off enough, I may do more," the governor said.

Burney has sliced some amount from nearly all requests he has thus far heard.

Requests Up 26%

All state agencies are asking an aggregate amount some 26% higher than current budgets.

Burney said the increase envisioned for the Resources Division, charged with attracting new industry to Nebraska, is "above the average."

The division has requested $333,000 for fiscal 1961-63 compared to $142,000 requested for 1959-61 and an additional $35,000 appropriated at last summer's special session.

Burney said the parole board should be allowed to increase its number of parole officers from the present single officer, who "has more than he can do."

Burney Names 4 To Positions On Advisory Boards

Gov. Dwight Burney Thursday appointed 4 persons to state advisory committee positions.

Leslie A. Stull of Alliance was reappointed to the advisory committee to the Board of Control for a term ending July 15, 1963.

Kenneth E. Bourne of Lincoln was named to the same advisory committee for a term expiring July 15, 1963. He replaces A. B. Holmburg of Shelton.

George Baumann of Grand Island was appointed a member-at-large of the advisory committee to the Board of Control for a term expiring July 15, 1964. He succeeds Russell Brehm of Lincoln.

T. A. Sick of Lincoln was reappointed a member of the advisory committee on insurance department personnel for a term ending April 14, 1963.

Congregation Picks Sergeant As Minister

Staff Sergeant Marvin L. Hatcher (USAF), Lincoln Air Force Base, was elected by the congregation of Belmont Baptist Church Sunday, to act as interim minister until a resident minister can be found.

Sgt. Hatcher

The Rev. Ralph Belknap, formerly resident minister of the church, relinquished his position, effective Dec. 1st, to go to Kansas City, Mo., where he will finish his ministerial training at the Central Baptist Seminary.

Sergeant Hatcher is presently employed in the Information Service Office at Lincoln Air Force Base, coming to Lincoln in April of 1959. Although he has had no formal seminary training for the ministry, Sgt. Hatcher is a licensed minister in the Baptist Church, having preached for a time at Trinity Baptist in Council Bluffs, Ia. He also participated actively in mission work in England. Advising the interim minister in his new position will be the Rev. Arthur L. Slaikeu of the First Baptist Church and the Rev. Robert Heydon of Second Baptist.

The church was organized in 1957, and moved into its house of worship at 14th and Judson in December of 1959. Belmont Baptist is affiliated with the American Baptist Convention.

Stock Market Tries Rally

New York (AP) —The stock market declined for the 3rd straight day Thursday, but a late rally applied the brakes and cut the loss considerably.

Aided by strength among utility issues, the market was down only 0.30 to 213.70 on The Associated Press 60-stock average. Industrials were down 1.10, rails down 0.40.

Chart followers were looking for a rally around 585 to 39 in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, and that's just about what they got. Off 5.47 to 591.74 at 1 p.m., this average recovered enough to be down only 2.66 at 594.56 by the close.

Losses were spread through most major groups — steels, motors, mail order firms, aircrafts, electronics, rails, oils and building material shares.

Volume was 3.09 million shares, virtually unchanged from Wednesday's 3.08 million.

Over-all statistics were about unchanged from Wednesday with 332 of the 1,220 issues traded up and 641 down. New 1960 highs shrank to 13 compared with 66 new lows.

The most active provided a gloomier picture, however, with 4 up, 9 down and 2 unchanged. American Stock Exchange prices declined as volume eased to 1 million shares from 1.09 million Wednesday.

U.S. government bonds were up but corporates were narrowly irregular.

Bond volume totaled $5.16 million par value compared with $5.98 million Wednesday.

Oats, Rye Regain Part Of Losses

Chicago (AP) — Profit takers stayed on the job in the grain futures pits Thursday and whittled wheat, corn and soybean prices down slightly. Oats and rye recovered some of their broad losses of Wednesday.

All setbacks were limited to fractions but gains in rye ran to about a cent in most contracts. Trade volume probably was well below the 63¾ million bushels handled in the previous active market.

At the close, wheat was ½-¾ cent a bushel lower, December $2.02⅝-.03; corn ⅛-⅜ lower, December $1.03-.03⅛; oats ⅜ higher to ⅛ lower, December 57-56⅝; soybeans ¼-1¼ higher, December $1.06; soybeans ⅛-⅜ lower, January $2.15⅛-¼.
